NAZIS REACH GATES OF CALAIS IN DRIVE FOR CHANNEL PORTS

French Forces Hold Firmly to Somme Salient

Declare German Assaults Fail to Gain South of Sedan; Report Increased Pressure by Nazis In North; Crucial Battle at Amiens.

BULLETIN

PARIS—(AP)—The Allied armies caught German armored columns in an artillery crossfire today in a new effort to cut the reich army's corridor to the sea and turn the tide of the battle for mastery of the English channel. Masses of Allied infantry also weighed down on the German salient, pressing south from Flanders fields in the Cambrai region and north from the Somme river in a pincers movement designed to break off the spearhead which has twisted west to the channel coast.

By JOHN MacVANE
(INS Staff Correspondent)

PARIS—French forces are holding firmly to their new positions along the Somme river, where they pounded into the outskirts of Amiens and hammered a dent into the German-held corridor to the channel, the French high command announced today.

In the north the Germans are attempting to increase their pressure, it was stated, but south of Sedan renewed German assaults failed to make "appreciable progress."

The latest official French version of the fighting was contained in a terse communique apparently worded with the primary intention of preventing any military information from reaching the enemy.

"In the northern region the enemy is endeavoring to increase pressure," the communique stated.

"On the line along the Somme our troops are firmly holding the counter-positions they have gained.

"South of Sedan the enemy pursued attacks without making any appreciable progress in spite of the means used."

A crucial battle was reported raging for possession of strategic Amiens on the northern bank of the Somme river after French mechanized forces dented the southern flank of the German "bulge" to the channel.

A French military spokesman said that all day yesterday there was "extremely heavy fighting," particularly in the Cambrai-Valenciennes region and around Arras, where the Germans battled to widen the 27-mile breach and smash the pivot of the Allied line.

He added that German motorized detachments which had pushed on to the Boulogne region are now meeting stiff resistance.

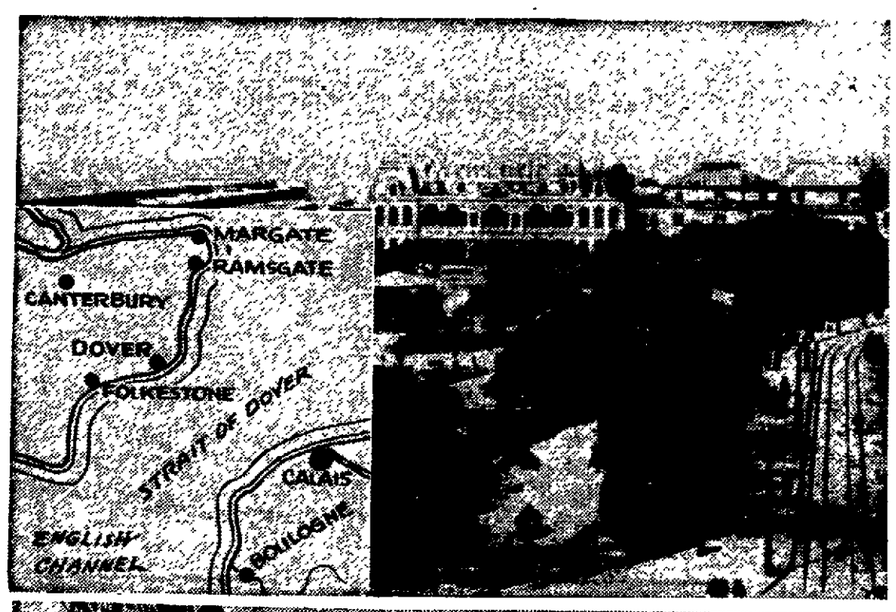
Fall Before German Drive Toward Channel



Driving relentlessly forward, German forces have reached Boulogne (top picture) on the English channel, only 30 miles from the coast of Britain, and today were pushing on toward Calais, which is even closer. Inset map in top picture shows strategic importance of German position. Lower picture is a view of Abbeville, 12 miles from the channel, which the Germans captured earlier, after once having been driven out of the city by an Allied counter-attack.

Hitler Legions Threaten Early British Attack

Swift-Moving Mechanized Troops Crash Through Scheldt Fortifications To Tournai and Ghent, Says Berlin High Command.

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(UP)—Responsible German military quarters asserted late today that German troops had entered Calais and that strong mechanized forces were just outside the city. The mechanized column was reported at Andres, about eight miles from Calais. It was presumed that troops reported to have reached the city were light forces, possibly motorcycle detachments.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN — Germany's legions in rolling armor have crashed through Scheldt river fortifications into Tournai and Ghent, Belgium, and have approached the "Gates of Calais," vital channel port on the French side, authoritative sources declared today.

Engulfing the French town of St. Omer in their path, fast-moving German armored cars were said to have approached Calais this forenoon. Calais lies only 22 miles across the English channel from the chalk cliffs of Dover, England.

It is assumed that St. Omer, less than 20 miles southeast of Calais, was taken last night or early this morning.

The Calais drive gave shape to the German aim of setting the stage for an attack on England. It also forged a new link in the chain of fire and steel which Germany is drawing tighter around 500,000 to 1,000,000 Allied soldiers trapped in Flanders.

The power of the penetration of the Scheldt river defenses was typified by the German high command which said that "divisions" had broken the line, their momentum carrying them on westward to the Lys river and perhaps across it.

The high command declared heavy attack forces, having broken through on the Scheldt river line, reached the western embankment of the Lys river, indicating that the Lys also had been crossed.

This crossing, however, may have been at Ghent, where the Scheldt and Lys join. Authorized sources said that German and Allied forces were fighting in the streets of historic Ghent, an important communications center, 30 miles northwest of Brussels, fallen Belgian capital.

The high command's daily communique did not mention Ghent, but said that Tournai, on the Scheldt, about 35 miles southwest of Ghent, had been taken.

"The region of northern France and Belgium wherein the enemy armies are encircled was yesterday further tightened by the successful attacks of German troops on all sides," said the high command.

The French fortress of Maubeuge which had been passed by the German sweep across the middle of the little Maginot line fronting on Belgium also was taken—the occupation completed yesterday with the capture of the last fortified works.

In the Artois region, north of the narrow neck of the German corridor to the channel coast, German troops were

LONDON—(AP)—Seven hundred Americans, eager to leave England and escape the dangers of Nazi invasion, applied for visas and exit permits to Eire in the last 24 hours, embassy officials said today. The United States liner President Roosevelt, scheduled to sail from New York today for Galway, will have accommodations for only 600 even if all available space is taken. There are about 2,000 Americans in London, 1,500 elsewhere in the United Kingdom and about 1,900 in Ireland.

AIR TRAINING OF 50,000 IN YEAR PLANNED

Roosevelt Reveals Program to Build Pilot Division of Nation's Defenses.

THREE-MONTH COURSE

President Says Congress Will Be Asked for Further Appropriations.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt disclosed plans today to give basic training as pilots to 50,000 men in the 12 months beginning July 1.

Through the Civil Aeronautics Authority, he said, three months of primary training in flying will be provided. While not all those who take the course will be finished material for the army and navy air forces, the president asserted, they can be incorporated in various reserves.

He told his press conference that congress would be asked for a supplementary appropriation to handle the pilot training program.

Mr. Roosevelt said that when the plans were completely in operation there would be about 550 primary training centers throughout the country.

He explained that the 10,000 individuals receiving basic training this year do not include 1,925 pilot instructors who received advance training.

The scarcity of qualified pilots is generally admitted, and, on the basis of official estimates, several hundred thousand persons must volunteer for training in the next two or three years to meet the army and navy requirements already outlined to congress.

Plans—which thus far lack official approval—already are taking shape among military and

TIP-OFF: Italy Postpones Luxury Liner's Sailing Date

(By Associated Press)

ROME—Sailing of the Italian liner Rex for New York has been postponed from May 29 to June 12, Italian line headquarters in Genoa said today.

Asked the reason, line officials said "We do not know."

Previously shipping circles in Rome had said they heard the scheduled sailing had been postponed indefinitely.

Twenty-five years from the day Italy declared war on the Austro-Hungarian empire, the country found herself on the brink of participation in a second great war, but this time ready to fight on the opposite side.

Members of the Fascist University Youth Organization who assembled in Turin for a series of sports contests were told the games were taking place "on the eve of our war" in a message from Guido Pallotta, vice-secretary of the organization.

The message said:

"From Turin we will leave for the last war of liberation which will break the chains still imposed on the country, will open the gates of Gibraltar and Suez, and again will name the Mediterranean our sea."

Some Italians more than half-expected Premier Mussolini to celebrate today's anniversary by

HORROR: Flame-Throwing Tank Newest German Weapon

(By United Press)

PARIS—The newest and most terrible of Germany's mechanized land weapons is the flame-throwing tank, a fast, light, cab-like engine of destruction which can consume towns, visit a veritable hell upon occupants of defense casemates and spread excruciating death among soldiers in the field.

These mobile flame-hurlers made their appearance on French battlefields after the advance of Germany's heavy armored tanks had been slowed in places by refueling necessities.

They are the product of an imaginative engineering which has scrapped the classic concepts of war and, as French military experts now agree, made material more important than tactics.

The flame-throwers with their protruding, cannon-like muzzles, operated by asbestos-clad specialists, took the offensive at a time when the French claimed that the Germans had lost more than 1,400 tanks, armored cars and other mechanized weapons in 10 days of battle.

They are designed to destroy towns and villages as well as to make frontal attacks on enemy positions. Speeding down a street, the flame-thrower pokes its nozzle against a house and squirts flaming gasoline on it. Every third house is so treated, the theory being that the flames will spread from one structure to another.

The flame-throwers are equipped, however, to fight their way through fortified positions and right up to casemates. They carry two machine guns and 37-millimeter cannon. The casemate reached, the tank pours liquid fire through the gun aperture, literally frying those inside.

ASSASSINATION ATTEMPT FAILS

Leon Trotzky Uninjured By Machine Gun Raid on Mexican Home.

(By United Press)

MEXICO CITY — A band of 20 unidentified gunmen in a swift 4 a. m. raid pour machine gun fire into Leon Trotzky's bedroom today in an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate him.

Trotzky and his wife, who were unhurt, rolled from their bed and lay on the floor while gunfire rattled at their suburban Coyoacan villa for nearly 15 minutes.

One guard, Archie Sheldon, was kidnaped by the raiders, all of whom were described as speaking Spanish. Sheldon was the object of a widespread police search.

In a statement Trotzky said that the dawn attack "was organized by the GPU (Soviet secret police) under the direct supervision of Stalin himself.

One of Trotzky's guards said that in addition to using machine guns against Trotzky the raiders carried a thermos bottle filled with incendiary fluid which they tossed into the Trotzky home. Two small fires were started next to Trotzky's bedroom but his wife, Natalia quickly smothered the flames with a blanket.

A guard said that the raiders first overpowered and bound five policemen outside the villa and then entered the grounds. Some, it was reported, were dressed in police uniforms.

It was estimated at least 200 shots were fired from four machine guns in the first attempt on Trotzky's life since he came to Mexico in exile.

DELIVER PLANES

Over 2,300 Airships Received by Allies From America.

NEW YORK —(AP)— More than 2,300 of the 6,100 American-built fighting planes ordered by England and France since shortly before the war started have been delivered.

Responsible sources said yesterday that the partly filled orders included 3,000 planes for France and 3,100 for England, and that negotiations are being made for the purchase of an additional 4,000.

G-MEN COMBAT FIFTH COLUMN

Justice Department Adding 100 Investigators.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)—The justice department planned today to add 100 G-men soon to the force combating fifth column activities.

A justice department official said that the increase would be made with appropriations available to the federal bureau of investigation July 1. The FBI now has 150 agents operating against saboteurs and espionage agents.

5 LOSE JOBS

City Economizes as Funds In Water Department Drop.

Warned by City Auditor Paul L. Kelley that water department funds, heavily drained due to a series of breaks in the system early this year, were exceedingly budgeted expenditures, the city administration today ordered the dismissal of five workers in the department.

Those notified of their discharge by Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton were Dale Au, Clyde Neff, Charles Greer, T. H. Shoup and Frank Carmel. William Mertler, another employe was shifted to the sewer maintenance division to replace Conrad Sheets who was affected by the dismissal order.

Action was taken after Kelley called attention to department expenditures which he said were up to the six-month statutory limit of 60 per cent of the annual appropriations. Council set up $22,000 for personal services for repairman and laborers for outside work this year. A total of $12,219 of the $13,200 limit has been spent during the first four months.

SHOT IN BACK

Quarrel Over Dog Results In Death of Cripple.

PORTSMOUTH —(AP)— Sheriff Earl Brandel sought two men today in the fatal shooting of Lenville Howard, 28-year-old crippled relief client, 10 miles north of here last night.

Brandel said Howard intervened in an argument between two neighbors over a dog and was shot in the back while walking home apparently after settling the quarrel. A widow and two children survive.

CCC CAMP TO OPEN JUNE 1

U. S. Soil Conservationists Arrive to Draft Erosion Program for 4 Counties.

With Richland county's CCC camp southeast of Mansfield scheduled to open June 1, or soon afterward, federal machinery had been set up in the county today to help farmers in a four-county area obtain soil conservation help from the camp.

F. William Sellner, federal soil conservationist, was brought here from Eaton to direct the conservation work of the 200 colored youths who will be stationed at the new camp. Assigned to the Mansfield area with him were H. E. Hecker and H. F. Muse.

Working with County Agent George B. Ganyard, the three federal conservationists will draw up agreements with farmers in Richland county and sections of Ashland, Knox, and Morrow counties for carrying out soil erosion preventative measures on their farms.

Hecker said five Richland county farms had already been signed for conservation work and 17 others are in line to receive soil conservation benefits from the camp.

He said a number of farms in the four-county area will be used as

'DARK, DREARY' WEATHER STAYS

Thermometer at 46 Would Give Poet New Inspiration.

The poet who wrote "some days must be dark and cold and dreary" should be alive today. He'd find new inspiration, what with the thermometer on May 24 standing at 46, and a big mess of "dark and dreary" all around us.

At noon today the temperature was one degree below the lowest point—47—in the past 24 hours, and the weatherman predicts "cloudy, showers tonight; cloudy tomorrow."

It rained most of last night; a gentle, steady rain that is just what the doctor prescribed for crops and gardens. Up to this noon almost an inch of rainfall in the past 24 hours had soaked into farm fields.

ASKS ELECTION

CIO Union Bids for Bargaining Rights at Westinghouse.

The United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, a CIO union, made a bid today at a National Labor Relations board hearing at the courthouse for sole bargaining rights for employes of the Mansfield Westinghouse plant.

Conducted by Albert H. Lohm, NLRB trial examiner from Washington, hearing on the CIO union's petition for bargaining powers got under way shortly before noon and was expected to be completed this afternoon.

Mansfield Local 711 of the union, which petitioned for certification as bargaining agency, withdrew from an election last December in which Westinghouse employes turned down the Westinghouse Employes association as sole bargaining agency by a vote of 1,445 to 943.

ART MISSING

30 Truckloads of Treasures Lost In War Flight.

PARIS—(AP)—Thirty truckloads of art treasures including paintings by Rubens, Rembrandt and Van Dyck are missing, it was disclosed today, after being spirited out of Brussels during the German invasion.

The priceless treasures were taken from the Brussels museum and placed in trucks which set out for France over the bombed and refugee-tangled roads of Belgium.

ANKARA, Turkey—(INS—The Turkish government, a neutral ally of Britain and France, is making a completely new survey of its international position, it was indicated today. Turkish newspapers, heretofore critical of Germany, Italy and Russia, suddenly have become silent on this subject. Recent events in France have led to much unofficial and public nervousness.

German Warplanes Appear Over Paris, Guns Open Fire

(By International News Service)

PARIS—German war planes appeared over Paris today. Anti-aircraft guns ringing the city opened fire.

Puffs of smoke from bursting shells were clearly visible from the boulevards.

Anti-aircraft guns around the capital opened fire again at 10:15 a. m. Two additional air raid alarms were sounded during the morning.

CITY STARTS TO FIGURE REVENUE NEEDED FOR '41

Department Heads Get Budget Forms, Prepare to Submit Cost Estimates.

City department heads, faced with a July 20 deadline for filing the municipal budget with the Richland county budget commission, sharpened their pencils today and rolled up their sleeves as they tackled the annual job of preparing estimates on amounts they will need for next year's operations.

Requests for submission of estimated needs for 1940 expenses were sent out to heads of all departments several days ago by the administration with instructions for their return at an early date.

Accompanying the requests was a form submitted for each department in which heads of the departments were asked to fill in the anticipated amounts needed for operation of their department during the 12-month period.

No Later Than July 20.

City Auditor Paul L. Kelley said the budget must be certified to the county budget commission with council's approval, no later than July 20.

The administration is charged with preparing the estimates which will be turned over to council's finance committee for the usual paring process before going to council for approval.

TAKING TESTS

New First Graders Receiving Reading-Readiness Exams.

Boys and girls who will go to school for the first time next fall are taking reading-readiness tests this week with their physical examinations at the offices of the health department in the City building.

The tests are designed to give school officials information about the prospective pupils' ability and speed up the school opening procedure next fall.

Parents who have no children in school now but will enter one or more in school next September may obtain registration blanks for their children at any of the city school buildings, Supt. W. L. Miller said.

THEATERS

Madeleine Carroll in Lead.

Madeleine Carroll, who has been featured in many Hollywood hits, plays the role of Livia Vaynol in the screen production of Howard Spring's international best-seller, "My Son, My Son!" which begins Saturday at the Ohio theater. Miss Carroll shares stellar honors in the production with Brian Aherne and Louis Hayward, and the supporting cast features Henry Hull, Josephine Hutchinson and Laraine Day.

Power in Character Role.

Not since "Jesse James" has Tyrone Power had a role like that of "Johnny Apollo" in the drama of that title which co-stars him with Dorothy Lamour at the Madison theater, beginning Saturday. "Johnny Apollo" is the alias of a young college man, a banker's son, who turns mobster when the father he idolizes is sent to prison and his wealthy friends turn against him.

Historical Events Depicted.

History is accurately brought to the screen in "Days of Jesse James," Roy Rogers' latest picture showing at the Park theater Saturday. The picture depicts in detail the manner in which racketeers of half a century ago attempted to hang their felonies on the shoulders of the James boys. "Grand Jury Secrets," with Gail Patrick and John Howard is the co-feature.

3 Mesquiteers as Pioneers.

The story of the three mesquiteers, Hatton, Livingston and Renaldo, "Pioneers of the West," showing Saturday at the Ritz theater deals with the efforts of the pioneers to make a home for themselves in the west, in spite of marauding Indians and scheming politicians who seek to wrest from them the homes they have established at great cost. The co-feature is "Emergency Squad" with an all star cast.

Varied Subjects.

Tim McCoy again plays the role of a westerner in "Trigger Fingers" which is a thrill picture showing at the Majestic theater. He plays the part of Lightning Bill Carson, crack federal operative, who starts out on the bandit trail, accompanied by his pal, Magpie and a pretty girl, Margaret. Many complications develop. The second feature showing Saturday is "No Place to Go," starring Dennis Morgan, Gloria Dickson and Fred Stone.

PRIVATE SEATED

LONDON — (INS) — A further example of the democratization of the British armed forces was given here when the 6th Earl of Rosslyn took his seat in the house of lords. He was clad in the battle dress of a private. Lord Rosslyn is twenty-two and thereby came under the age group called for service with the colors in December.

400 WATCH AS DEMOLAYS SEAT 1ST OFFICERS

Colorful Ceremonies Held at Public Installation; Keys Presented Advisors.

Public installation of 22 officers of Baku chapter, Order of DeMolay, was held last night during colorful ceremonies in the John Simpson junior high school gymnasium, witnessed by over 400 parents, friends, representatives of various Masonic bodies, and DeMolay members.

The installation was conducted by Charles L. Kafer, a member of the chapter advisory board, assisted by four past master councilors from the Marion chapter. The officers were attired in new ceremonial robes.

In recognition of their service in organizing the Mansfield chapter, three members of the advisory board were presented with the White Honor Key by Floyd Dent, "dad" of the chapter. Keys went to Howard Schuck, monarch of Baku Grotto, J. Merton Holcombe and Harry Colbow. Dent also presented Kafer the Zerrubabel key, a gift of the grand council, for his work in getting the the new chapter started in Mansfield.

Music was furnished by the Senior high school A Cappella choir, directed by A. LeMoine Derr, director of vocal music in the Mansfield Senior and junior high schools.

WAIT ON SOLON

Special Council Meeting on W. 4th Paving Faces Delay.

A special meeting of city council tomorrow morning to reconsider legislation authorizing the reconstruction of West Fourth street this summer by the state highway department hinged today on the return to the city of one of the legislators.

Second Ward Councilman C. N. Shultz was reported out of the city on a vacation and is expected back today. In the event Shultz does not return, a meeting tentatively set for Saturday morning will be called Tuesday night, Mayor William J. Locke said.

The session has been called to reconsider a measure turned down Tuesday night by lack of seven affirmative votes. The ordinance appropriates $46,000 as the city and property owner's share of the cost and authorizes the state to proceed with the improvement.

With only seven members present at the last session, George Kyle in whose Ward the improvement is proposed, voted against the issue, objecting to the type of pavement to be laid.

On 'Let's Explore Ohio' Tour

TIME GROWS SHORT FOR 'LET'S EXPLORE OHIO' LETTER ENTRIES

A thousand miles and seven days in a big overland bus, with all expenses paid awaits two boys or girls from Mansfield and Richland county who are winners in the "Let's Explore Ohio" contest, which ends next Tuesday.

The time for submitting entries is growing short. All must be in the hands of the Let's Explore Ohio editor, News-Journal, by Wednesday morning and entries sent by mail must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday.

This is the second year that The News-Journal and the Standard Oil company have sponsored such a contest and last year two school girls were winners and made the week's tour of Ohio.

The contest is open to all children between the ages of 12 and 15 inclusive, anywhere in the city or county, except those whose parents work for the newspaper or the Standard Oil company. The contest is for the best letter of approximately 100 words telling of the most interesting spot in Ohio for the writer. The subject may be anyplace, a zoo, a park, a museum, a famous building or site or marker. In other words the contestant may choose his or her own subject.

The trip will start shortly after school closes in June. It will start from Columbus and in a 1,000 mile trip the boys and girls—there will be about two bus loads of them from all over the state—will visit the important cities of the state and many historically and scenically important places.

While in Columbus they will visit the Ohio capitol which sits in the center of the city, surrounded by stately trees.

One of the interesting points on the trip will be the home place of James A. Garfield, one of the presidents of the United States who was born in an Ohio log cabin.

This will be on a side-trip out of Cleveland. At the Garfield home there is a replica of the tiny log cabin in which the former president was born. It has been reconstructed on the lawn on the estate.

SENT TO JAIL

Defendant Gets 10 Days on Larceny Charge.

Convicted on a charge of petit larceny when arraigned in municipal court this morning, James Daniels, colored, whose address was not given, was sentenced to 30 days in jail. Similar charges against his companion, Walter Tillman, were dismissed.

The pair was accused by C. L. Lisle, equipment superintendent of the Mansfield Telephone company, of the theft of two instruments. Lisle said the equipment had been set at the curb on Springmill street near High street yesterday afternoon by employes working in the district and that the two men came along and picked them up.

Daniels and Tillman were arrested a short distance from the intersection by police who said they found the men in possession of the instruments. Tillman accused Daniels of taking the equipment.

Didn't Know It Was Possible, Says Joyful Mansfield Man

Those Agonizing Pains Across My Back and Down Through My Legs Are Giving Way Faster Than I Even Hoped For, After Vendol Gave Such Relief from Constipation and Acted on My Kidneys.

MR. JOHN C. FRIEND

If suffering from constipation or need of a diuretic action on your kidneys has made you a victim of pains across the back and through your limbs, caused dizzy feelings, headaches, nervousness, and other symptoms, you should visit Central Drug Store and learn what Vendol, the medicine of Roots, Herbs, and Alkalines, has done for many others who once suffered this way.

Mr. John C. Friend, a carpenter by trade residing on route 2, Mansfield, tells how Vendol brought amazing relief after everything else tried had failed. "I suffered such pains and stiffness in my back and had such poor luck with the medicines I tried that I thought relief was not for me.

"I had some other complaints too which were due to daily constipation, such as headaches, nervousness that got me up all during the night, then getting up in the morning feeling tired, achy, and miserable, and not even wanting to go to the breakfast table, and what I ate turned sour in my stomach.

"The first bottle of Vendol proved that it was good medicine, so I got more along with a box of the little Vendol laxative tablets, and truly I didn't know it was possible to get such relief as this medicine gave me. It relieved my constipation, acted on my kidneys; then the aches and pains grew less day by day until now, I'm truly like another person. Vendol helped me so much I'm glad to praise and recommend it to anyone who needs a medicine like this."

If Vendol helped this person living right here at home, it will do the same for you, so why not begin taking this double-acting compound made from Senna, Dandelion, Queen's Root, May Apple, Anis Seed, and 7 other roots and herbs combined with valuable alkalines. Come to Central Drug Store, corner Main and Fourth streets, learn how Vendol will help you also. All drug stores sell Vendol.

Braves Beaten, 6 to 2

Kudelvitz Hurls 6-Hit Ball, But Mansfield Is Held To Two Runs.

BACK at their home wigwam the Mansfield Braves today are trying to figure out how to hop into the win column and stay there.

They sent Stan Kudelvitz, southpaw, to the mound against the Red Birds at Fostoria last night and although he allowed only six hits, the Mansfielders dropped a 6 to 2 decision in an Ohio State league contest.

There is a possibility that Manager Dewey Stover will summon Bob Arnold to face Fostoria under the floodlights in a Ladies' night game at the Fairground at 8:15 p. m. today.

The continued downpour last night and this morning left the playing field at the Fairground in bad shape, but club officials waited until noon to decide whether or not to call the game off.

Kudeluitz turned in a stellar performance last night, but couldn't silence the Red Birds bats with men on base.

Fostoria drove over three runs in the second to take a lead that was never seriously threatened. The Red Birds added one in the fourth and a pair of tallies in the sixth to sew up the affray.

Mansfield, held to four hits by Greenberg, managed to dent the plate twice in the seventh, but that was as far as the Braves went.

Eldon Dice led the Braves at the plate with a double and single. He was the only Mansfielder to secure two hits. Berger led the losers with a triple.

Mansfield helped Kudelvitz out of a hole in the sixth by pulling a double play, Dick Morse, Harry Seigbert and Carl Foldenauer turned the trick.

The Braves are at Fremont Saturday and return to the Fairground to face Findlay in a single contest at 3 p. m. Sunday.

Redlegs Back In Cincinnati

Get Day of Rest After Tour Of Eastern Clubs.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The Cincinnati Reds rambled home to a scheduled day of rest today, leaving behind them three victories, four losses, and three postponements for the net result of their first eastern tour.

The three victories proved that the Reds still are the team to beat for the 1940 pennant; the four losses proved that the eastern clubs are likely to be the major obstacles; and the three postponements proved that April and May showers make June and July doubleheaders—19 of them and the rainy season isn't gone yet.

The Reds take on the St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow for one of the doubleheaders, with Bucky Walters and Gene Thompson doing the pitching for the local talent.

Undefeated Bucky will be after his seventh straight victory of the season and Gene his sixth against two losses.

YMCA Club League Begins Season

Although rainy weather threatens to wash out all softball games scheduled in the city, eight teams in the YMCA Club softball league are planning to inaugurate their season tonight on Mansfield diamonds.

Games on the card in the Club league tonight are: Phalanx Fraternity vs. Catholic Foresters, W. B. Union vs. Schoolmasters, Elks club vs. Junior Association of Commerce, and Summit Fast Freight vs. Doherty Fraternity.

Teachers Pull Triple Play In Baseball Win.

PEORIA, Ill. — (AP) — That rarity of baseball—a triple play—helped Western Illinois State Teachers to a 6 to 2 victory over the Caterpillar Tractors of Peoria last night. A line drive to the left fielder accounted for the first out. Second Baseman Eddie Willard then tagged two baserunners to retire the side.

Veterans Tee Off In Open Qualifier

The 36-hole test over the Mayfield and Manakiki layouts has an entry list of 138, including 56 amateurs. The district has 15 places in the open, scheduled at Canterbury June 6-8.

Sox Leap From Last To Fourth In 5 Days

(By Associated Press)

THE SEASON'S best straight and fancy sleight-of handing is the pageant the Chicago White Sox are performing this week for the American league patrons.

From last place to fourth in five days is a feat of magic that the world champion New York Yankees would pay plenty to learn.

From April 16 until Monday the Sox were never better than a tie for fifth and never had won a game in their own park. The club now has won four straight in Comisky park, climaxed by a 13-4 shocker to the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday.

The Sox have crowded 57 hits into their last four games and had 13 yesterday when they bunched ten runs into one furious firecracker eighth inning.

The Yankees, who on Sunday were only half a game behind Chicago, slithered back into the cellar by dropping a 3-2 decision to the Detroit Tigers and big Buck Newsom.

Joe DiMaggio and Hank Greenberg each hit two-run round-trippers.

The St. Louis Browns wrung out an 8-7 twelve-inning triumph over the Washington Senators in a thrill-packed battle. The Browns had to come from behind to tie the score in the eighth and again in the ninth. In the 12th Jimmy Bloodworth hit a two-run homer that looked like the payoff for the Senators. But in their final turn at bat the Browns banged across three runs on George McQuinn's second homer of the game, a single, a triple and a fly.

Delayed 24 hours by rain, the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies managed to put on the major leagues' first night game of 1940 last night and gave the customers at Shibe park a 13-inning show that the Cubs ultimately won 4-3.

For ten innings this was a pitching test between old Charley Root and Hugh Mulcahy. Root gave way to a pinchhitter in the 11th, but Mulcahy went on to live up to his nickname—"Losing Pitcher."

* * *

All the other games in the National league were rained out along with the anticipated feature of the junior circuit—the clash of the Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox.

Ken Overlin Is Newest Champ

Batts Daylights Out of Garcia To Cop Decision.

NEW YORK —(AP)— The newest of the middleweight champions is Ken Overlin, a light-hitting but clever veteran fighting out of Washington, D. C.

He won the recognition of the New York and California commissions last night by batting the daylights out of Ceferino Garcia, the Filipino, before a crowd of 7,500 in Madison Square Garden.

The decision of the two judges and referee Art Donovan was unanimous for Overlin at the close of 15 hard rounds. Garcia, who won his title by knocking out Fred Apostoli in the same ring last October, looked pretty well used-up at the final bell.

Overlin, who owns to 30 years and is reputed to be considerably over that figure, now disputes the 160-pound crown with Al Hostak of Seattle, who is recognized as champ by the National Boxing association.

Overlin fought a nice battle last night. Garcia won only four rounds as the Associated Press saw it, and one of those was taken from Overlin for hitting low.

RAINED OUT

All matches scheduled in The News-Journal "B" league last night were rained out and will not be played until after Aug. 22, when the regular season was to have ended, officials of the league announced today. Next week's "B" loop matches will be played at Possum Run Friday, May 31.

SCHEDULED FOR SATURDAY

Two Hurlers With No-Hit Records Pitch Sunday.

Two pitchers, who have already turned in no-hit performances this season, will be under fire when the Alta Lumbers tangle with the Tinkey Lumber company softball team at North Lake park at 2 p. m. Sunday. They are Stub Winebrenner, who hurled a no-hit, no-run sparkler for the Tinkeys in their first game this season, and Dale McKinley, who tossed a no-hitter for the Altas a few weeks ago. McKinley, however, allowed a runner to cross the plate.

Rams Tackle Tough Rivals On Gridiron

Tiffin Jr. Order, Wooster on List of Nine-Game Schedule This Fall.

Coach Al Fendrick will have to produce a powerful football machine at Madison high next fall if he hopes to turn back the nine rivals who meet the Rams on the gridiron in 1940.

Seeking tougher opponents since the Mid-State league broke up a year ago, Fendrick announced the 1940 schedule today and from all indications his grid forces are in for several tough battles.

Probably the toughest opposition will be Tiffin Junior Order. The Tiffin club recently scored a victory over the Sandusky high varsity in a spring practice game.

The Rams lift the lid on their season Sept. 13 by invading Wooster high Generals. New London will be entertained by Madison at the Madison field in the first home tilt Sept. 20.

Here is the complete schedule:

Sept. 13—At Wooster.
Sept. 20—New London.
Sept. 27—At Dennison.
Oct. 1—At Orrville.
Oct. 11—Tiffin Jr. Order.
Oct. 18—Norwalk.
Oct. 25—Marion St. Mary's.
Nov. 1—At Bellville.
Nov. 8—Londonville.

School Sports Carnival Opens In Columbus

Bellville High's Baseball Team and Mansfield High Golfers In Meet.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Steady rains paralyzed the start of Ohio's annual scholastic athletic carnival today. Baseball games scheduled to start at 9 a. m. were postponed until noon. With no sign of clearing skies there appeared little likelihood any games would be played today. Tennis matches also were expected to be called off.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio's annual spring high school sports carnival gets under way today with 2,826 boys from 262 schools seeking state championships in track-field, baseball, tennis and golf.

Ohio State university turned its athletic facilities over to the scholastic stars for the two-day event sponsored by the State High School Athletic association.

The baseball teams were first to take the spotlight at 9 a. m., four diamonds being put into operation simultaneously. Defending champs in both Class A and Class B were eliminated in district play.

First round pairings: Class A—Lima Central vs. Springfield, 9 a. m.; Akron Garfield vs. Greenfield, 9 a. m.; Norwood vs. Tiltonville, 11 a. m.; Cleveland Shaw vs. Columbus North, 11 a. m. Class B—Colerain vs. Kalida, 9 a. m.; Powhatan Point vs. Chauncey, 9 a. m.; Bellville vs. Versailles, 11 a. m.; Milford Center vs. Chardon, 11 a. m.

Semi-final games will be played this afternoon and finals Saturday afternoon.

Golf and tennis tournaments are slated to begin at 1 p. m. today with final matches Saturday. Track-field preliminaries will start at 3 p. m. today.

District champs competing in the track-field meet are: Cleveland East Tech, Columbus North, St. Clairsville, Cleveland East, Akron Garfield, Toledo Devilbiss, Fremont Ross, Marietta, Cincinnati Withrow and Springfield in Class A, and Upper Arlington, Belpre, Chagrin Falls—Orange, Oak Harbor, New London, Rome-Stewart, North College and O. S. and S. O. Home of Xenia in Class B.

Pitcher Marries at Home Plate, Wins

LIMA—(AP)—Pitcher Frank Biscan of the Lima Pandas was married at home plate last night, then pitched a three-hit, 4 to 0 shutout over the Tiffin Mud Hens.

Outfielder Joseph made all three of Tiffin's safeties. Crum chalked up a homer for Lima.

Findlay remained in a tie with Lima for the Ohio State league lead by whipping Fremont, 7 to 4.

Feller Seeks Sixth Victory As Tribe Plays Under Lights

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians play their first game of the season under the lights here tonight with Bob Feller seeking his sixth victory. Eldon Auker, showing three decisions in five starts, probably will pitch for the Browns.

A single game is scheduled tomorrow, with a double-header winding up the series Sunday. The Indians then return home for three games with Detroit and a Memorial Day double bill with Chicago before starting another eastern trip.

The second game of the Boston series was rained out in Cleveland yesterday, depriving the Redskins of a chance to cut into the Red Sox game and a half lead.

The Tribe played .600 ball in 10 home games against eastern foes, beating St. Louis twice, Washington once, New York twice and Boston once. Feller, Johnny Allen, Al Smith, Mel Harder and Al Milnar notched the victories, the latter posting two.

* * *

Boston is idle today, but takes on New York twice tomorrow and once Sunday. Thus, should the Indians sweep the series here, their chances of going home in first place would be greatly enhanced.

Millers Make Bid for First

Take 3rd Straight From St. Paul Last Night.

(By Associated Press)

The Minneapolis Millers, trying to stick within hailing distance of the league leading Kansas City Blues, are making the American association trail mighty rough these nights for the hapless St. Paul Saints.

Minneapolis won a third straight game from the Saints last night, 10 to 4. Walter Tauscher went the route for Minneapolis although he gave up 14 hits. Art Herring was clubbed from the box after giving up 13 hits and nine runs.

Kansas City kept four full games ahead of Minneapolis by rallying for three runs in the eighth which meant a 5 to 4 win over Milwaukee's Brewers.

Indianapolis defeated Louisville, 5 to 2, behind the six-hit pitching of Lloyd Johnson.

The Toledo-Columbus afternoon game was postponed because of rain.

Ohio Conference Opens at Heatherdowns Today.

TOLEDO —(AP)— University of Toledo's linksmen were favorites as the Ohio conference golf tournament opened today over the Heatherdowns course.

Eighteen holes were billed today, with the final round tomorrow.

Denison, Oberlin, Wooster and Kenyon are competing with the Rockets for the team title.

Several other schools have players entered in the contest for the individual title vacated by Dan Cawley of Marietta. Marshall Carlson, Toledo captain, took individual honors in the recent Ohio intercollegiate meet at Columbus where the Rockets finished second to Ohio State.

By Harold Gray

GOT YOUR CALL, CHIEF, AND HERE WE ARE—
ARE YOU READY TO GO?
NOT QUITE, BOYS—BUT WE WILL BE VERY SOON—AND WHAT A GOLD MINE THIS TOWN IS GOING TO BE!
DOESN'T THIS GUY, GAT, SUSPECT ANYTHING YET? IS HE A DOPE OR SOMETHING?
NO—HE'S TOO BUSY WITH OTHER MATTERS—AND WHEN I HANG THAT KIDNAPING ONTO HIM, HE'LL REALLY BE BUSY—
BUT A GUY LIKE GAT—I'VE HEARD PLENTY ABOUT HIM—HE'S LIABLE TO TAKE A SHOT AT YOU—
HO! HO! NO—HE'S REFORMED! YES, BOYS, THE BIG BAD WOLF IS TRYING TO TURN INTO A LITTLE ROLLO—
YEAH? I WOULDN'T COUNT TOO MUCH ON THAT, CHIEF—ANYWAY, WHAT ABOUT HIS MOB?
MOBSTERS ARE ALL ALIKE—WHEN THEY SEE HOW THE WIND BLOWS, THEY'LL ALL COME FLOCKING OVER TO US—YOU'LL SEE—

TRADERS FIND LOW VISIBILITY IN WAR SCENE

Caution Keynotes Action on Wall Street as Early Gains Decline.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stock market traders tried to look on the bright side of a still murky war picture today but found visibility poor.

Caution was the keynote and early gains running to 2 points were reduced or replaced with losses of as much as the session passed mid-day.

Effects of the big domestic rearmament program on industry still was the main sustaining market factor, brokers said.

(Additional Markets on Page 18)

Bonds moved up in spots and commodities steadied. "Free" sterling and the French franc also kept their balance.

Up at one time or another were Bethlehem Steel, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, American Telephone, Western Union, Westinghouse, Du Pont and J. C. Penney.

Motors had to contend with a downturn in this week's automotive output which was off more than 2,000 units from the preceding week.

Noted was the survey of Dun & Bradstreet disclosing a flattening out of retail spending during the past week resulting partly, it was said, from adverse influences of the overseas imbroglio.

Federal reserve figures showed that brokers' loans in the week ended Wednesday dropped $55,000,000 to $403,000,000, largest decline since Dec. 27.

RECLUSE STARVES

COLUMBUS —(AP)— John Helfrich, 80-year-old recluse whose frugality made him "thin and under-nourished," left saving of $15,000. Coroner Edward E. Smith said a neighbor told him Helfrich "almost starved himself to death."

IT'S HERE! A DELICIOUSLY DIFFERENT
NEW FORM OF BRAN

CHECK ITS ADVANTAGES:
- ✔ 100% Whole Bran
- ✔ made by an improved process of double-milling
- ✔ delicious to eat
- ✔ helps relieve constipation caused by too little bulk
- ✔ accepted by the Council on Foods of The American Medical Association

HERE IS IMPORTANT NEWS for everyone who eats Bran!

You can now enjoy an improved form of Bran—a Bran gentle in its action, and delicious in flavor!

The new National Biscuit 100% Bran is made by a new process—the result of two years' testing. Double-milling further breaks down the bran fiber—thus making it smaller and less likely to be irritating.

If you suffer from constipation caused by insufficient dietary bulk, by all means try National Biscuit 100% Bran. It helps in developing a large soft mass in the intestines and aids elimination.

Buy a package of this new form of Bran today! Eat it regularly. You'll appreciate its mild, efficient action—you'll love its tempting, nutty flavor.

If your constipation is not helped in this simple manner, consult a competent physician.

CITY WORKMEN HIT ON STREET GUARD LAXITY

Crafton Orders More Strict Rules After Car Goes Into Unguarded Ditch.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton today ordered water and street department heads to see that city street are guarded with barricades during the course of any repair work.

The order went out to C. J. Kalbfleisch, superintendent of the water department and Charles Hebel, superintendent of streets, following an automobile accident at West Third and Bowman streets yesterday, which Councilman Jacob Kutchall charged was due to negligence of city workers.

Kutchall, chairman of council's claims committee, told Crafton that a woman driver drove her machine into a ditch at the intersection when water department workmen went to lunch and left the opening unguarded.

Plagued by petty claims from similar instances during the past several months while streets have been opened to repair water line breaks, Kutchall said he had been told by a resident in the vicinity that the workmen had failed to erect any warning when they went to work on the job.

The street had been torn up by water department workmen to repair a leak in the distribution system.

Deny Car Was Ditched.

Reporting to Crafton regarding the accident, Kalbfleisch said the workmen told him that the car did not go into the ditch and that they were on the job when the woman drove to the side of the opening.

Kutchall, however, said the car had been damaged and taken to a garage for repair.

Asserting that city employes in observing safety methods, in all departments had been lax Crafton ordered Kalbfleisch to see that all street work was posted properly to guard against accidents. He said he would also issue the same orders to other department heads.

"Street openings of any type, should always be properly guarded for the safety of the workmen as well as the public," he added.

For purposes of local government, England and Wales are divided primarily into 62 administrative counties.

OF HEAVEN'S BENEDICTION++

By Margaret Gorman Nichols
(Copyright 1940)

CHAPTER XVIII

Despite the unusual brightness of her face, the old lady seemed prostrate and her long hands thinner, the blue veins protruding. When she raised one, Brooke saw that it was shaking and that in the cruel, telltale glare, Mrs. Kingsbury looked more than usually worn and old. Like a motherbird, Ellen hovered near.

Dismissed an hour later, Brooke obtained deck chairs and books. But, since Mrs. Kingsbury had voiced a stern wish to sit on deck in the warmest part of the afternoon and Brooke had to be among the first to go to the dining room for luncheon, she ate alone. And, as she would for several succeeding afternoons, she spent the first at sea in a deck chair beside Mrs. Kingsbury who intermittently dozed and stared at passing people.

Brooke dozed, too, unmindful that the long black lashes flat against her face had brought Tony Morrison to that particular spot twice, hoping each time to find her awake. When finally she awoke, the shadows of twilight were on the sea, the air was cold, and few people were passing. Beneath the robe, she stretched like a kitten.

"You've had a good nap," Mrs. Kingsbury said when Brooke glanced to see if the old lady was still here. "I didn't have the heart to awaken you. It's getting colder and I'm going in. There's nothing like it—nothing like this air. It puts life back in you."

With Mrs. Kingsbury in her cabin, Brooke went to hers and hurried into her new bathing suit, a slim blue satin thing, and a white robe. In the corridor again, she inquired of the stewardess the direction to the swimming pool, thinking, 'I feel alive again!' It was as if happiness were new. But it wasn't happiness, she corrected herself. It was merely stimulation, to escape from drabness and pathetic old age, and from scenes too closely associated with silent despair.

The pool was crowded and noisy with chatter and splashing. Harriet and Bill and Tony, the men in shorts, Harriet in a printed cotton suit, were standing beside the pool.

"You were asleep," Tony said smoking.

"You were asleep," Tony said with mock disapproval.

Bill asked, "And is she beautiful when she's asleep?"

Tony said, "You mean—also?"

Harriet was most concerned. "And you didn't get tea? We've finished our swim," she added apologetically.

Tony said, "I'll wait for you, Brooke."

She stayed in the water a long time, talking with a little boy who spluttered and struggled, glancing up now and then to see that Tony still waited as he chatted with people around the pool. His chuckles drifted back to her more than once.

When she came up, exhilarated, pulling a tight white cap from her head, shaking her abundant dark hair loose, he held her robe for her and called as she was hurrying to the shower, "Cocktails? Where is your cabin?"

Gaily she called the number.

She wore the black chiffon frock with the voluminous skirt and tall-heeled silver sandals and, looking at herself, her face interested her anew. In the past weeks she had avoided close scrutiny of herself, knowing that her expression had altered, thinking several times that it could not be her own face she saw. But tonight it was touched with radiance. Because of Tony, who had been startlingly and suddenly close and dear? She could not stop thinking of him as a mere boy years younger than she. Yes, because of Tony whose illusions were still clear in his eyes, and because at last, she had been able to run through the invisible door through which she had wanted to run since that night Rod's telegram came. She stood still and thought of Rod, feeling weak when she recalled his touch and their last intimate moment, forever blighted. . . . She knew now that that night he had known he was going to marry Irene.

Some one knocked impatiently. "Brooke? It's Tony . . ."

They went into the ornate cocktail lounge to music and to gaiety. Harriet, in a flame colored frock, was looking coy for the dark-eyed bearded gentleman and Bill, at the bar, was smiling his mischievous best for a pale, heavy-lidded blond in white.

"The first day's sun has left its mark," Tony said after he had sent the steward for cocktails. "The disconcerting hazel eyes looked warmly into hers. "I wonder how you look when you're very sunburned. Be careful of the Hawaiian sun."

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, MAY 24, 1940.

Defense of America Must Rise Above Consideration of Partisan Politics

URGENT need for immediate strengthening of United States defenses will be best met by temporarily putting considerations of party politics in the background and proceeding as a united nation in earnest efforts to act in a way that will be best for this country, for the Western Hemisphere, and, insofar as possible, for the entire world.

Preconceived notions of political bickering common to a presidential campaign have little bearing in an emergency such as now exists and Democrats and Republicans, as well as those affiliated with minor political parties, may be well advised to keep in mind that they are, first of all, AMERICANS!

Many of us find it difficult to accurately estimate the relative importance of things, which may account for present emphasis on minor matters and apparent inability to appreciate greater problems.

There is, for instance, a great hubbub about President Roosevelt's possible candidacy for a third term, about New Deal policies and about who is most likely to be the Republican nominee for the presidency—WHILE EUROPE IS ABLAZE WITH THE MOST BRUTAL WAR THE WORLD HAS EVER KNOWN AND THOUSANDS OF HUMAN BEINGS ARE BEING WANTONLY SLAUGHTERED!

WHETHER Franklin D. Roosevelt has, or has not, been a satisfactory president, and whether his policies have been in the best interests of the people of this country, are matters of minor concern at this time. Nor is his decision as to third term candidacy of major importance at the moment.

WHAT IS VASTLY IMPORTANT, HOWEVER, IS THAT ALL ACTS OF MR. ROOSEVELT SHALL BE AS PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES AND NOT AS A DEMOCRAT, OR AS AN ASPIRANT FOR RE-ELECTION.

The almost universal approval which has been accorded President Roosevelt's request for appropriations in excess of a billion dollars to strengthen national defenses, and the speedy action of congress toward that end, evidences the wish of the American people to make this nation secure against invasion by any foreign power.

But if this is to be accomplished speedily and efficiently, there will be need for more than money and wishes—

THERE WILL BE NEED FOR ADVICE AND DIRECTION BY THE MOST CAPABLE BUSINESS EXECUTIVES IN THIS COUNTRY—MEN WHO ARE WIDELY EXPERIENCED IN THE INTRICACIES OF LARGE-SCALE PRODUCTION AND WILLING TO SACRIFICE PERSONAL INTERESTS FOR THE WELFARE OF THE COUNTRY.

There are such men in the United States—at least several will readily come to the mind of every reader—and whether they are Democrats or Republicans is not of slightest concern.

ONE of the best-founded adverse criticisms of President Roosevelt's administrations is that he has called into positions of high responsibility in the federal service a number of men utterly unqualified for the places to which they were appointed—and, under the practices of partisan politics, such procedure may be condoned in ordinary times.

Even a coalition cabinet, if effected, would not serve the need, for this would seem to be no more than a political expedient, with an implication of being selfishly motivated.

With disclosures of the importance of adequate air defenses in modern warfare, it appears that the time is at hand to set up aviation as a separate branch of military service, COORDINATING with army and navy instead of continuing to be a part of each.

AS COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF of all branches of the nation's military establishment, and recognizing the present status and immediate needs of army, navy and air corps, President Roosevelt is in position to call to his aid the best brains of the country in making an immediate start toward better national defense and speeding production of airplanes and other defensive equipment in a way that would be impossible under the direction of politicians or inefficient bureaucrats.

He is already on sound ground when he declares against "a single millionaire being created out of the world misfortune" and advises that labor unions should not "take advantage of the situation to strike for greater wages or privileges not enjoyed by other workers."

The American people look to Franklin D. Roosevelt as THEIR president. They realize the heavy responsibilities that rest upon him and pray that he may be given the divine guidance for which he asked when he assumed the duties of office.

Thirty Crucial Days

THESE may be days as serious as any of modern times, in their effect on the world's destinies. Lord Lothian, British ambassador at Washington and a student of history, addressing the English-speaking Union on May 14, said that the next 30 days of war in Europe might determine "whether there was to be any effective barrier left to the domination of all Europe, Asia and Africa by the dictatorships."

The alternative to such a tragedy, he said, would be "whether Hitler's method of conquest by violence and fraud should receive its first serious check, and mankind, though the struggle would be far from over, could begin to breathe freely again." Up to this time there has been no justification for free breathing.

The ambassador added that he had no doubt freedom would prevail in the end, the only question being "the amount of suffering we bring upon ourselves before we learn the lesson." The free countries, at best, will have to suffer considerably—for Hitler's sins of commission and their own sins of omission.

Railroads are offering a "travel now, pay later" plan, but haven't yet hit on the idea of a trip with "satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded."

The United States now averages an auto for every 4.4 inhabitants—the only trouble being that too many of the fractions are doing the driving.

A Princeton professor says our universe "is moving steadily toward mediocrity"—and educators should know where they're taking us.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—About five or ten minutes past four every afternoon the word is passed around the NBC news rooms that Lord Haw Haw will be on in a minute with his evening news chat. Lord Haw Haw is the Englishman who fled Briton at the outbreak of the war and now feeds his countrymen a long line of sarcasm by radio. It is said that all good Englishmen tune him in regularly and that he is now the favorite news broadcaster of the British public. I can tell you that Lord Haw Haw also is the favorite broadcaster of the NBC listening staff, despite the presence of John Gunther, H. V. Kaltenborn, Lowell Thomas, and other top flight stars of their own.

We, by good luck, happened to go up to NBC the other day just before Lord Haw Haw came on the air, and the word to get ready to listen in was being passed around to everybody, from the engineers to the reporters and the secretaries. They like to listen to this unknown Englishman, whose cultured voice floats out of Bremen, Germany, every afternoon and every evening with gleeful accounts of how the Germans are daily outwitting the British.

LORD HAW HAW, following the German custom that was in evidence even before hostilities began, invariably speaks highly of the French troops. Discussing the Norwegian campaign, he made a point of explaining that French troops engaged in that undertaking always retired in good order, with their full equipment. The British, he said, went berserk, throwing down their rifles and fleeing in panic. It was not a retreat; it was a rout, said he.

Englishmen who have attempted to identify Lord Haw Haw believe he is a former member of the British Fascist legion who spent some time in this country. A London wit gave him the name of Lord Haw Haw shortly after hostilities began. Whoever this man is, he has excellent radio personality. His speech is the precise, cultured speech of an educated Englishman and it is reminiscent of Leslie Howard.

As is probably true with other broadcasting companies, NBC dutifully records all of Haw Haw's chats. These are taken down on little discs that may be played back into earphones, in the manner of phonograph records. As a matter of course, all foreign broadcasts are recorded. These recordings are then translated by interpreters into English and fed to their own news commentators or relayed to the newspapers.

DURING the recent talk of a Dutch invasion, the NBC listening post picked up a strange English voice from the Netherlands one night.

"If you are looking for news," it said, "we must ask you to look elsewhere. This is a broadcast from a peaceful nation to other peaceful nations of the world. We cannot tell you what the weather is tonight; that would come under the heading of military information. But we can say that in Holland tonight it is May, and the moon is shining, and the poppies are blooming." The rest of the broadcast was a sort of merrily-we-roll along commentary on the more pleasant aspects of life.

Has Equality Paid?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HAVE American women really profited by their much-vaunted suffrage and equality?

Is the Working Wife or the Career Woman of today safer and happier than her voteless grandmother, or her "underprivileged" sisters of "less advanced" lands?

In short, are "Women's Rights" actually the treat we claim, or have we Emancipated Ladies sold ourselves down the river?

The Ranee of Sarawak, English-born wife of Sarawak's white Rajah, says they aren't—and that we have!

In case your geography's slipping, Sarawak's in Borneo, and practically surrounded by illiterate jungle dwellers and headhunters. Yet, persists the Ranee, whose husband rides herd on them all, "these Malay women . . . have more real security than American wives."

"Instead of improving our own condition, we've merely succeeded in giving men more freedom, says she. As many a job-holding young wife has ruefully discovered.

Take for instance, this matter of marriage. Marriage is an elastic institution with the Malays. There a man may take as many wives as he can afford. But having taken them, he must continue to foot their bills, theirs and their children's. He may weary of his lady's lovely eyes but he must provide her rice and sarongs to the end of her days.

"Whereas, in America," says the Ranee, "it is not unusual for a man to have one wife after another, leaving the ex-mate to support herself and her child. What you have here is progressive polygamy—and from it, women lose."

(Another point on which our local girls have commented!)

But it's our industrial situation which particularly arouses the Ranee's ire. She believes—and definitely!—that jobs and marriage do not mix.

"Equality has made American women hard, driving, unfeminine, restless," she charges. "They are always sizing people up, as if to say, 'Who are you? How much money have you? How can I use you?'"

(Seems I've seen that look myself!)

But here's the cruelest blow of all. Emancipation for American women has meant frustration for their men, says the Ranee, who claims our males "look either exhausted or frightened . . . intimidated by a swarm of intellectual women."

(Which remark is certainly going to Get Around, if I know Our Boys!)

So now it's YOUR turn. Do you vote with the Ranee? Still believe that all these new feminine prerogatives and privileges are a Good Bet for everyone concerned? Or a Gold Brick? Yes, I'd really like to know—and we'll print a few of the better pro's and con's.

Billiard's Charm.

It is an interesting view that Willie Hoppe takes of the future of billards, in its bearing on our changing taste in pastimes. He sees no new stars emerging in the game to which he has devoted his life. The satisfaction he derives from his phenonenal sweep lately of the three-cushion field is qualified by the feeling that he is master of a disappearing art.

The explanation seems to lie in the long apprenticeship. To play billiards too well is the sign of a misspent youth, said Spencer: but surely not in Hoppe's case, for he was a champion and self-supporting when no more than an adolescent. As a rule, however, it takes three or four hours a day for 10 years to produce an artist with the cue. Meanwhile he must be carried along by someone—usually, it has happened, by a father devoted to the game. It is not a profession that one may master while giving the larger part of his energy to another. He must live for billiards.

As a game for those of ordinary skill, it deserves to survive. It belongs to an age of more leisurely and spacious living, and a regret for the passing of one can apply to the other.—Detroit News.

Health And Diet

Bad Posture Starts Early.

—By DR. CLENDENING

What can be done to train posture during infancy?

THE beginnings of bad posture are laid during very early life. Always hold a baby so that its back is supported. A cramped position may start to make the back crooked. Round shoulders may begin by clothes that pull on the neck and shoulders.

Example is the best teacher. Babies are great imitators. When they begin to walk, if the mother or father is stooped or round-shouldered, they will tend to do the same. Once or twice a day, in the formative period when the baby is from eighteen months to two years old, stand him up against the wall, the mother on the wall around the corner where she can be seen. The mother throws her chest out, and her shoulders back. The baby will try to do the same thing.

Poor posture may be due to trouble with the feet or legs, causing a tilt to the pelvis, and hence a curved position for the spine. Bow-legs and knock-knees should be treated on advice from the doctor. Don't let them run on. All babies' legs are bowed at first, but when they begin to crawl and walk they straighten up. Rickets may cause bow-legs; hence a regulation of the diet helps posture.

Strong muscles and strong bones are the best guarantees of good posture. Exercise of all the muscles and joints should be carried out systematically. With the baby in bed, move the legs—knees, hips and ankles. Lift him up by his fingers. Put him on his face and raise his legs so that the back is moved in all directions. He will think it is great fun.

What is the treatment of fallen stomach?

There is no set place for the organs inside the abdomen. When one considers the number and variety of the abdominal organs and the flexibility of the abdominal wall, it is no wonder that displacements are common.

Fallen stomach, which is always associated with dropped intestines, gives symptoms of dyspepsia in which distaste for food is a prominent symptom, with constipation and bloating regular accompaniments.

Mechanical derangements being best treated by mechanical means, enteroptosis, which is the technical name for dropping of the abdominal organs, is no exception to this rule. Exercises to strengthen the sagging abdominal walls, and a full diet to put extra "padding" inside the abdomen around the organs are plainly sensible methods of treatment. Mechanical support of the abdomen by corsets is strongly advised.

"I have known patients," wrote Dr. William Hanna Thomson, of New York, "who have been so reduced that they were unable to attend to their ordinary duties of life, with general impairment of health and nutrition who were restored by the employment of a belt to a condition of excellent health. One patient wore a belt fourteen months, gained 40 pounds in weight, and was completely cured."

Understanding

—By HELEN LOOMIS LINHAM

If I knew the heart of you,
And you the soul of me,
We'd laugh and cry together, dear,
As friendly as could be.

You'd know the very minute that
I said a hasty word,
And think, the dear, she's overtired,
And pretend you had not heard.

And if by chance you hurt me, well—
I never would complain:
For I would know you did not mean
To cause me tears and pain.

And never would we lose our faith,
Though near or far apart:
If only I knew the soul of you,
And you could read my heart.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Before the late Douglas Fairbanks died he had a remarkable conversation with Hitler's minister of propaganda, Herr Joseph Goebbels. Intelligence officers to whom Fairbanks told the story are now dusting it off and examining it carefully to see what significance it has in regard to Hitler's future conduct toward the United States.

Fairbanks and his wife, the former Lady Ashley, were vacationing at Venice one year ago. Goebbels also had come to Venice, and the town was so decorated in his honor that the Fairbanks home was about the only one along the Grand Canal which did not fly the swastika.

Later at the Lido, Fairbanks was introduced to Goebbels, who called him "Zorro," no doubt remembering Fairbanks' picture, "The Mark of Zorro." At a dinner, Goebbels sat beside Lady Ashley and became extremely frank about Nazi ambitions, predicting that Poland would be taken in the near future.

Lady Ashley countered that while Hitler might be able to take over some of the war-born states of Europe, his philosophy never would be accepted by the Low Countries.

To this Goebbels replied: "Oh, France and Great Britain are tired old men. They will never fight."

Invasion of U. S. A.

THE conversation then went on to the United States, which Goebbels described as a country of "niggers and Jews."

"They will never fight," he said. "Our political philosophy will sweep the world. When it comes to America, we shall conquer you by methods and means of which you know nothing."

Later, Goebbels said Germany's greatest shame was the fact that she was without a great fleet, had been forced to scuttle it at Scapa Flow after the World war. Regarding this sorrowful incident Hitler had practised the philosophy of Gambetta, "Think of it always, speak of it never."

And since Hitler's greatest ambition was to secure a new fleet, he planned to let the British off lightly if they surrendered their navy to Germany.

Goebbels did not specify whom the fleet was to be used against, but as he left the Fairbanks' he made this boastful farewell: "See you in the United States in eighteen months."

Fairbanks at first did not pay much attention to the remark, but later got to thinking it over. Finally he decided to report the conversation to intelligence officers.

Fleet for Debts.

THE Chip Robert proposal to cancel the war debts in return for a mortgage on the British fleet has received a lot of support on Capitol Hill, but not among officials familiar with Great Britain.

They point out the British are already pretty sour on the United States, and that any proposal connected with war debts (which they consider non-existent) would make them so bitter that they might purposely dispose of the fleet in a way prejudicial to the United States.

In fact, the attitude of the British toward the United States is compared to that of General Jan Syrovy, the one-eyed commander of the Czech army. He became so sour at Great Britain after the surrender of Munich that he served as go-between in arranging the alliance between Hitler and Stalin.

Naval Instruments.

THE justice department has just bumped into the discovery that U. S. submarine periscopes, naval range-finders and other important technical equipment used by the army and navy is being manufactured in partial co-operation with a German firm.

The American company involved is Bausch and Lomb, well-known manufacturers of optical instruments, while the German firm is Carl Zeiss of Jena.

The whole matter came out during an anti-trust prosecution by the justice department, which ended this week in a consent decree by which Bausch and Lomb agreed to refrain from monopolistic practices. Perhaps more important, they also agreed to supply the navy with marine range-finders for the new cruisers. Previously they had been unwilling to guarantee delivery for several months.

The justice department began its investigation of the eye-glasses trust in an effort to bring down the price of spectacles. Bausch and Lomb was among the companies investigated, and justice department agents turned up a contract the company had signed with Carl Zeiss.

German Supervision.

UNDER this contract Bausch and Lomb exchanges patent ideas with the Zeiss company, and agrees not to sell military equipment in certain countries, notably England, France, Sweden, Belgium, Poland, Canada, Finland, China, and parts of South America.

Bausch and Lomb also permits a certain amount of supervision by Zeiss over their military department. The exact clause of the contract turned up by the justice department reads:

"The Bausch and Lomb Optical company . . . will create a new department responsible solely to the board of directors, which is charged with the independent development of all scientific and technical tasks within the military scope, and the maintenance of associations with Carl Zeiss in Jena. The parties will come to an agreement as regards the heads to be placed in charge of this department."

In other words, the German company has the power to help choose the executives in the Bausch and Lomb department which makes lenses, periscopes, etc., for the U. S. navy.

The general terms of this were known to the navy, which actually encouraged Bausch and Lomb to co-operate with Zeiss in order to get the use of Zeiss patents. This, however, was long before Hitler started to go on the rampage.

Delayed Delivery.

AND a short time ago, Bausch and Lomb informed the navy that they could not sign a performance guarantee in bidding on range finders for the latest cruisers. The company said it had been so busy, with Thurman Arnold's anti-trust suit that they would be several months late.

To this the justice department replied that only three of the Bausch and Lomb executives had been indicted, wich should not interfere with workmen in the plant.

It so happens that Bausch and Lomb is the only company at this moment available to make the range-finders, and the navy is most anxious to secure them on schedule. So last week, Thurman Arnold informed the company that if they did not agree to deliver on time, he would publish all of the correspondence in which they threatened to hold up the navy.

The Crag Cedar

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

NEAR the summit of a perpendicular ledge of sandstone rock that stood more than 90 feet, I saw a gnarled, aged cedar tree jutted out from a fissure its own roots had made.

Sixty years ago, perhaps, a tiny seed fell into a seam the frost had heaved apart. Small particles of earth and leaves were carried by the wind and settled there. Beneath this meager sediment a tender shoot, moist and yielding, grew outward and upward to the sunlight. The next year the basic root was molded by the rectangular opening until it fitted the fissure perfectly.

Then a life struggle began. Each year the twisted trunk grew larger and by some unseen force it heaved aside the heavy rock. Like a strong groping hand, the sinewy roots threaded far inward, to grasp the necessary nourishment in the horizontal cleft of shelving rock.

The base of the tree is bulged and flared against the rocky face. There is no support beneath. Only by the anchorage of the roots on the north-eastern side does the natural structure hold its place. I dropped a heavy stone upon the swollen part. It bounded from it as though the wood tissue has been metal. Not even the bark was injured.

The main trunk rose triumphantly above the rock—high above. But the constant prevailing wind had bent it to the east. Like an aged man who has labored harder than his strength should bear, this twisted stem was injured on the western side. Great blotches where the bark had fallen showed drab brown horny hardness that glistened in the sun. Fine dust-like meal, sifting through an opening in the base, betrayed the cavity in the center.

The blunt stubby branches all bent eastward, even the ones whose start had been in the opposite direction. Some trailed low upon the surface of the rock.

There is a stirring something about that tree, gaunt and ungainly though it grows upon its crag. I stood and admired a noble courage, there by that wind-swept rock—an enduring power in that gnarled straggly form that far outshines the complacent roadside or forest tree.

Germans Reach Calais In Drive On Channel

Hitler Legions Threaten Early Attack on England; Crash Through Forts on Scheldt River Front.

said to have stormed and conquered Loretto Heights, northwest of Arras.

Formidable German armored forces which had been advancing between Arras and the sea to the north were said to be nearing the French channel ports.

"A weak enemy advance from the south toward Amiens (on the flank of the German spearhead to the channel) was repelled," said the high command.

The communique pictured widespread attacks on the Allies from the air in which six loaded transports were sunk and "a large war vessel which is probably a cruiser, and destroyers" were hit by heavy bombs off Boulogne."

The Germans asserted that yesterday's air losses for the Allies on the western front totaled 49 planes against 16 German planes marked down as missing. A toll of 56 Allied tanks was announced in one day of fighting Wednesday.

The British Air Force, they said contemptuously, conducted another series of "prestige flights" over the Aachen, Dusseldorf and Munster regions last night and that bombs were dropped on non-military targets.

Repeated Allied reverses in attempts to break through the German ring of encirclement and out of the "cauldron" were described as having weakened Allied resistance.

Seaport of Boulogne Captured by Nazi Troops

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Boulogne, France's strategic seaport, 20 minutes by air from London, has fallen to the German spearhead on the English channel coast, authoritative sources acknowledged today.

"The Germans took possession of Boulogne last night," they said.

Prime Minister Churchill told parliament yesterday severe fighting was raging "around and in" Boulogne and that the fighting, a threat to British communications, had "implications of a serious character."

A spokesman said that virtually all the British troops at Boulogne "got away." He indicated that the Germans were able to seize the town because of their stronger forces.

He added, however, that he had no knowledge of the size of the German capturing force.

Boulogne, the point farthest west of the German sweep through the low countries and France in the 15-day-old "real war," is only 26 miles by boat from Folkestone, 105 miles by water from London and about 80 miles by air.

Boulogne was seized apparently by German mechanized columns worming north along the channel coast from Abbeville, France, which was reached last Tuesday.

Presumably the German conquerors would try to push 20 miles across a hump in the French coastline to attack Calais. (The Germans have pictured Calais as the most important of their channel objectives.)

The advance on Calais, coupled with a German thrust pointed through Ghent, Belgium, would practically seal the ring thrown about a half-million to a million Allied troops on the plains of Flanders and northern France, forcing either a surrender, a break-through against the German wedge to the coast or destruction of the entrapped troops.

Ghent lies about 80 miles east of Calais.

Coupled with word that Boulogne had fallen came a British air ministry announcement that 23 German planes were shot down and 26 more shot down or damaged by far-flung British aerial stabs yesterday at both enemy communications along the fighting front and in Germany itself.

The loss of eight British planes and forced landings for four others were acknowledged.

Confronted by the German successes on the French channel coast, only 22 miles from the chalk cliffs of England at the nearest point, Britain strengthened coastal defenses against the zero hour of a German crossing to smash at her key ports.

With powerful British naval units patrolling the channel and strong detachments of troops taking up positions in south coastal towns all during the night, the first defense activity of the day occurred in the southeast this morning. There anti-aircraft guns went into action as German planes appeared over the coast.

While Scotland Yard was reported to have rounded up 34 fifth-column suspects, including six women, Britain also was on guard against possible invasion by way of Ireland, where the Dublin government, nominally neutral, strove for general defense co-ordination.

King George VI prepared to broadcast an Empire day measure of inspiration to his peoples at 9 p. m. (3 p. m. EST).

This Empire day—Queen Victoria's birthday—marked the gravest crisis in the history of the British commonwealth of nations.

In two weeks the flying German columns had advanced 200 miles to Boulogne.

British Fascists replied defiantly to the government's arrest of their leader, Sir Oswald Mosley, by scattering propaganda leaflets on the Thames embankment and the Strand.

One set of leaflets, labeled "Labor-Communist double-cross," blamed "Labor and Communist leaders" for Britain's "present mess" and demanded that Britain accept Mosley's isolation policy.

announcing that Italy finally is ready to strike for attainment of her long-heralded territorial aspirations.

There were no surface indication of the exact time or place of Italy's leap. Most guesses were that it would be against France or Yugoslavia, against both of whom Italy has filed territorial claims.

Futile Allied offers of concessions to Premier Mussolini in the hope of keeping Italy non-belligerent were reported today in Italian quarters.

Unofficial observers said the French secretly offered her special rights in Asia, credit facilities through the Suez canal and a free port at Djibuti, French Somaliland Djibuti is the only rail outlet to Italy's Ethiopian empire.

Britain has been negotiating for an arrangement to lift the Allied blockade in the Mediterranean for Italy.

Mussolini, however, was quoted as saying the concessions are "too little and too late."

Late War Flashes

BERLIN — (AP) — Germany charged today that all the cars of an ambulance unit attached to an armored car formation were destroyed, four men killed and eight injured in an Allied daylight air attack May 14. The ambulances were said to have been marked plainly with red crosses.

GOTEBORG, Sweden —(AP)— Lifting of the blackout from all Sweden was ordered, effective today, amid an easing of alarm provoked by the European war. Blackout of the entire country was ordered on May 12 for an indefinite period.

LONDON—(INS)—Capt. Franz Von Rintelen, chief of German spies in the United States during the World war, was arrested in England today in the British drive against spies and suspected "Fifth column" members.

NEW YORK —(AP)— The German press advised Germans today against expecting an immediate victory, William Kerker, NBC correspondent, said in a talk from Berlin.

BELFAST, NORTHERN IRELAND—(U.P.)—Seventy-six members of the outlawed Irish Republican army were arrested in a roundup that started yesterday and continued through the night, it was announced officially today.

BERLIN — (AP) — Informed German sources said today the railway line between Paris and Rouen had been bombarded regularly by the German air force in order to cut off the French capital from the important western harbor of Le Havre.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Paul Archinard, NBC representative in Paris, said in a broadcast today that 5,000 German troops of mechanized units were reported "isolated" in Amiens and that other Nazi mechanized forces had "stalled" from lack of fuel.

LONDON —(AP)— Sir Samuel Hoare, a veteran cabinet minister, was appointed today as ambassador to Madrid "on a special mission," the nature of which was not disclosed.

Drama Students In Play Tomorrow

Eleven of Alice Partello's drama students will be presented in a play tonight at the Ashland Opera House and tomorrow afternoon at the Madison theater in Mansfield. Nine of them shown here are front row, left to right, Berton Lorentz, Georgianna McClelland, William Ingram and Mary Myers. Standing left to right, are Mary Jane Diemer, Mary Coffman, Patsy Frank, Ruth Swisher and Joan Freeland. The two members of the cast not in the picture are Jimmy Buesch and Donald Brown. The play "On Trial" revolves around two small girls who want to be boys and who follow their football idols around imitating them.

TRUSTEE FUND PAYMENTS UP

Municipal Court Pays Out $2,357 to Merchants on Credit Plan.

Reflecting improved economic conditions, municipal court today distributed $2,357 in trusteeship funds to Mansfield merchants.

The money represents payments made to the court which acts as trustee for persons who have agreed to pay regular lump sums jointly to their creditors.

The money is held by the court and distributed quarterly on a pro-rated basis to the creditors.

Ralph H. Hughes, municipal court clerk, said the amount is the highest in recent months and represented an increase of about $800 over the distribution made in January.

A total of 773 checks, ranging in amounts from $1 to $21 were placed in the mails today. Practically all of them went to Mansfield merchants with only a few sent out of the city.

The distribution includes total payments made to the court during the past three months, Hughes said.

In addition, the city's general fund will be increased $192 taken in as costs in connection with the handling of the funds.

FRENCH FORCES STAND FIRM IN SOMME SALIENT

Report German Assaults Fail to Make Appreciable Gain In Sedan Sector.

The northern Allied army entrenched behind the Schelde river at present is battling on three fronts, the spokesman said—on the east in Belgium, on the south around Valenciennes and Cambrai and Arras and on the southwest in the Boulogne-Bethune area.

Between Arras and the Somme river, he said, over their passage toward the channel, German motorized detachments and columns are speeding in all directions.

These German troops, the spokesman said, are hemmed in on the south by the Somme and on the north by the British.

The spokesman added that German movements toward the coast are now "considered unimportant." He asserted the real battle is taking place in Flanders and centering on the towns of Valenciennes, Cambrai and Arras on a front extending over 40 miles.

He added that the French army is solidly entrenched behind the Somme and added:

"We had a series of small, local successes yesterday in which we drove the enemy from a majority of the minor bridgeheads he had secured on the southern bank of the Somme, particularly south of Amiens, where we penetrated the suburbs of the city."

"All day and all night," he said, "our aviation has been bombing enemy communications, supplies, dumps, troop concentrations and columns.

South of Sedan, the spokesman said, the Germans unleashed a bitter attack preceded by extremely heavy artillery fire but did not use any tanks.

"The Germans did not succeed in making any serious gains," he declared.

Paris newspapers published flaring headlines over dispatches on the battle of Flanders, stating it was spreading from Ghent to Bapaume.

$105,737 SENT TO SCHOOLS IN CITY, COUNTY

State Allocation to Give Them Good Start Toward Opening In Fall.

Schools in Mansfield, Shelby and Richland county rural districts received a $105,737 share of state school funds today in the second quarterly allocation of school foundation money.

Richland county's schools got $48,507, Mansfield schools, $45,097, and Shelby schools, $12,133. Allocations are made on the basis of enrollment.

While most of the city and county districts have been able to operate their schools without fear of closing for financial reasons during the past year, the funds will help them to clear up their obligations for the year and have something to start with next fall.

Total allocations to all districts in the state amounted to $10,787,167. Of that amount, $5,460,950 went to the cities, $4,571,965 to the counties, and $754,252 to exempt villages.

Funds distributed to other cities and counties in the Mansfield area included.

Ashland (city), $23,117; county, $26,046; Bucyrus, $12,452; Galion, $15,936; Crestline, $6,906; Crawford county, $21,648, and Huron county, $31,866.

BOY BITES DOG

MARTINS FERRY — (AP) — Answering a shrill scream emanating from the kitchen, Mrs. Harry Laase rushed in to find her son, Donnie, aged 3 and a half, vigorously chawing on the leg of "Toy," their pet dog. Mrs. Laase rescued Toy, and Donnie explained:

"But, Mamma, he bited me first." To prove it, the child displayed a tooth-pocked hand.

WILLARD CENSUS

TIFFIN— (AP) —The population of Willard, Huron county, has decreased by 280 persons to 4,234 in the last 10 years, a report by Howard Stierwalt, supervisor in the 13th Ohio census district, shows today.

Perform In City's First Circus

The Butters Family of wire artists will be one of the headliners with the Lewis Brothers circus when that show sets up its big top on East Fourth street and Ashland road next Wednesday. It's a three-ring circus and carries a large menagerie.

FIRST CIRCUS HERE NEXT WEEK

Lewis Brothers Three-Ring Show to Set Up at East 4th, Ashland Road.

Mansfield's first circus of the season will put up its big top on East Fourth street next Wednesday, it was announced today by the advance man for the Lewis Brothers three-ring circus and menagerie.

The circus will be set up on the vacant lots across Ashland road from the Armory, at the intersection of East Fourth street. There will be both an afternoon and evening performance, one at 2 and the other at 8 p. m.

There is a well stocked menagerie with the circus with lions, tigers, elephants and other jungle animals. The out-door show also carries a big stock of trained circus horses.

Lewis Brothers is one of the older shows on the road and has visited Mansfield on previous occasions. One of the brothers travels with the show and superintends all performances.

It was announced that the two performances would be given in Mansfield regardless of the weather. Several of the big open-air shows opened their season this year in snow storms early this month.

MARY SCHISKA TO WED MACKINAW CITY MAN

Friends Told of June 15 Wedding Date at Party Last Night; Nuptials Will Be Performed at St. Peter's Church.

THE approaching marriage of Miss Mary Schiska, daughter of Mrs. Anna Schiska, 142 Weldon avenue, and Raymond Desy, son of James Desy, Mackinaw City, Mich., was announced last night at a party given by the bride-elect's mother and sister, Miss Florence Schiska, at the Colonial Guest House on the Wooster road.

The pair will be married June 15 at St. Peter's Catholic church at 9:30 a. m. The wedding date was disclosed to friends last night by small place cards marking the places at the luncheon table.

Pink, blue and white appointments, representing the colors of the costumes for the bridal party, were used on the table, and tiny candle holders bearing miniature candles in these shades were favors. Sweet peas and colorful pastries formed the centerpieces.

Bridge was in play at five tables, after which a two-course luncheon was served. Mrs. Paul Schiska and Mrs. Justin Guisinger won the fiesta ware prizes which they presented to Miss Schiska.

The bride-elect attended St. Peter's Catholic school, while Mr. Desy attended schools in Mackinaw City. He is associated with his father in the restaurant business in that city.

COLLEGIANS from our neighborhood are again making headlines—this time down at Ohio State university in Columbus. . . . Five students from Mansfield and vicinity were among those recently named who have taken an active part in campus activities. . . . Jean Seybold (whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. O. Leo Seybold) was a member of the symphonic choir. . . . John Koman, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Koman, has been elected to membership in Beta Gamma Sigma —national commercial honorary society. . . . And Robert McCormick, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. McCormick, was elected representative-at-large in the Commerce council. . . . A Galion student at the university, Hugh Shumaker, also was elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, while Joseph Lightburn of Crestline was named marketing club representative in the Commerce council.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Scheifley are vacationing this week. . . . They have gone to New York City, where they will take in the World fair. . . . Of course, the best feature of their trip is that they'll visit with Mrs. Scheifley's brother, Bill Shauck, who will be there all summer as an attendant in the Westinghouse display at the fair.

WE ALL can be rightfully proud of Edith Fletcher Jameson, as she was in Lansing, Mich., yesterday presenting a concert at Michigan State college. . . . Mrs. Jameson, lyric soprano, gave a complete program before an audience of some 5,500 students and guests. . . . She drove up to the school where her son, Robert Fletcher, is enrolled as a student.

HAD a card from Lucy this morning which contained some real important news about one of our students at Ohio university. . . . Merle Abele, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Abele, was one of 13 in a class of over 700 freshmen girls recently initiated into the freshman honorary society at the school. . . . We would naturally expect Merle to be so honored because she is at the university on a scholarship—having graduated from Mansfield Senior high school last June with 19 A's to her credit. . . . Her sorority, Alpha Delta Pi, presented Merle with a scholarship locket, as she had the highest grades of any active member in the organization this year. . . . And then this week, she received a bracelet from the alumni of Cleveland for the same honor. . . . So along with her parents, we all can feel mighty proud of Merle.

This is an extra special day for Marian Lee Birch, as not only is she going to the senior class banquet and dance at the high school tonight, but she's celebrating her 18th birthday too. . . . Marian Lee's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Birch.

Mrs. R. D. Anderson left yesterday for Bloomington, Ill., where she will visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Donnan, who moved to that city only a few months ago. . . . Mrs. Donnan, you recall, was Elizabeth Anderson before her marriage.... The Donnans will drive Mrs. Anderson back to Mansfield next week and stay here over Decoration day and the week-end for a visit with friends and relatives.

Dr. Mabel Huston Speaks on Health To Parent Group

Dr. Mabel Emery Huston was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Johnny Appleseed P.T.A. yesterday evening in the music room of the school. Her subject was "The Health of Children During the Summer Months," and she stressed the essentials of play, rest and food in preparing the child for the next school year.

Plans for purchasing a moving picture machine for the school were formulated, and a finance committee was appointed. Members named were Mrs. E. S. Wendell, Mrs. George Berg, Mrs. G. C. Young and Robert Y. Davis.

Shirley Lay and Donna Jean Reese, students of the Eugene Smart studio, played accordion and marimba solos respectively. As this was the final meeting of the year, S. G. Bushman, program chairman, discussed plans for meetings next fall.

Women's Guild Has Program, Tea At Terman Home

Fourteen members and seven guests of the Women's guild of Grace Episcopal church gathered at the home of Mrs. J. S. Terman on West Third street for an afternoon tea yesterday. Mrs. Marion Brinkerhoff was associate hostess for the affair.

"Bird Sanctuaries" was the subject of the program, and Mrs. Ralph E. Race told of the Theodore Roosevelt sanctuary at Oyster Bay, N. Y. Mrs. B. R. Ahrendt then discussed the Bach Singing tower in Miami, Fla. Mrs. William Fischer and Mrs. Charles Adkins presided at the tea table, which was decorated with bouquets of spring flowers.

Another tea will be held in June with Mrs. R. A. Warden and Mrs. Harry Rhonehouse as hostesses. The exact date of this afternoon function will be announced later.

Just Case of Bachelor Jitters

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A young man is developing a bad case of nerves as his wedding day approaches.

"My girl is everything she should be and we're very much in love, but there have been two divorces in my immediate family. My older brother and younger sister have both been divorced. What if the same fate should overtake us? Is there something in my heredity? I have only learned of late that my maternal grandmother was also divorced, and that in a day when divorce was unusual.

"Is this just a case of pre-wedding day jitters on the part of a young man of 29, who has had a good time and is considered popular? Or is my state of mind common to every one about to take vows which he or she hopes to keep 'until death us do part.'

"BACHELOR."

Please don't let the thought of heredity hynotize you either before or after your marriage. Your state of mind is just a case of nerves. Bachelor jitters, with a family record of divorce adding an extra touch of fear.

Why do so many marriages go on the rocks? That's an easy one to answer. People do not realize that love is a living thing and that, like any other living thing, it can be starved if it isn't nourished and cultivated. And another reason, my dear bachelor, that one marriage in every six ends in the divorce court is that there is something wrong, not with the marriage itself, but with the people who enter into the wedded state.

The ceremony, even if it is beautifully spectacular, with half a dozen bridesmaids dressed in pastel shades, showers of rice, well wishes, old shoes, champagne, gives no insurance against selfishness, boredom, philandering, the omission of courtesy and all the other things which send marriage on the rocks.

To be successful, a marriage should offer the sore of companionship in which two people are able to chum together, enjoy each other's hobbies, find evenings spent at home a real pleasure, and stand together and take it on the chin when trouble comes. This kind of marriage will take the sting out of poverty.

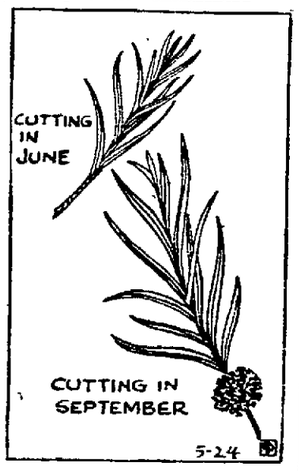
Garden Graph

By DEAN HALLIDAY



PROPAGATING PINKS FROM CUTTINGS

When the "pinks" in the rock garden finish blooming they usually have a tired, straggly appearance. When this occurs the flower heads and portions of the foliage should be cut off with sharp shears, for pruning of "pinks" at this time frequently encourages a second blooming.

Close on the heels of the blooming period of "pinks" is the ideal time to take cuttings from which to propagate a new supply of plants. Cuttings made from "pinks" in June, as shown in the Garden-Graph, will be ready to set out in a permanent place in the garden by September. The cutting ready for September planting is also shown in the accompanying illustration.

Do not permit cuttings from garden pinks to form buds this fall. Snip them off the plants this season and you will be rewarded with a lovely floral display next spring.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

My poise was not proof against that sudden query of Philip Veritzen's. I started violently, and was conscious that from her entrance spot at the door, Mary had cried out involuntarily, "Oh, No, no, no."

I saw Lillian take a step forward, head tilted upright, hands clenched at her sides.

There could be but one reason for his request for Noel's presence. He must wish him to see the contrast between Olina's exquisite musical performance and the stilted version of Mary's role.

I did not wait for the answer to my mental question, but went into immediate action with a private signal to Lillian to "play up."

"Really, I haven't the slightest idea where Noel is now, I said airily. "I didn't have any thought that you would want him here, so I didn't tell him to be present."

"You must have turned over an immense new leaf, Phil," Lillian commented. "I thought you didn't allow even a pet cat or white mouse belonging to a player to be in the theater, for fear the player would be distracted."

Philip Veritzen frowned portentously at her.

"Nor do I, ordinarily," he said. "But I have a very special reason for wishing Noel to be present here this morning, and I think my daughter-in-law is trouper enough not to be upset by his presence."

He smiled at Mary with what I would have sworn was affectionate amusement if I had not know the evil thought lying behind it, and then he put a direct query to her.

"Do you know where Noel is?" he asked.

How she managed to smile at him so nonchalantly, I do not know, but manage it she did.

"He was in our room when I left it," she said.

"Then be may be there still," he answered, and at the word Lillian was at the door.

"I'll take a look not only there but in the rest of the house," she said, and I knew that her itinerary would include my little study, with instructions to Noel to remain hidden in the closet until the hue and cry was over.

She returned after five minutes with a rueful face.

"I'm afraid it's no go, Phil," she said. "Katie reports that Meester Noel, he go out say he going for long walk. I've sent Jim to trail him, but I'm afraid it's a hopeless quest. He has one of the guards with him so he can go out of bounds. I don't think it's any use your waiting for him."

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, May 25.

AN EVENTFUL and memorable day, with breathtaking occurrences of insistent and far-reaching influence is presaged from the lunar and mutual planetary aspects. The unusual, unforeseen and unpredictable may be looked for—these probably uprooting, upsetting and drastically disturbing, not without much benefit and profit: but the gains mature because of shrewd insight and clever manipulation of subtle and singularly obscure and challenging factors. It may take intrigue or secret understanding, with advice from elders, to profit.

Those whose birthday it is are at the brink of a surprising year, of rapid and swiftchanging events, with radical and far-reaching effect of the fortunes and future happiness. Dramatic adventures and drastic upheavals may open up a world of fresh thrills and spectacular achievements, lucrative and gratifying because of shrewd and tactful management of subtle and intriguing situations. Wise counsel of elders may assist in these dynamic and singular excursions.

A child born on this may be talented in some extraordinarily and spectacular way, original, independent, unorthodox and audacious and at the same time crafty, intuitive, imaginative and of far vision. It may explore unknown fields in art, drama, science, romance, religion or mysticism.

Memorial services will be held at the Christian church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. A union choir of the three churches will furnish the music.

Miss Helen Carl returned to New York City after a several days' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Carl.

Glazed Ham Patties Tasty

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Glazed Ham Patties combine ham and fresh pork, and make an attractive meat course for luncheon or buffet supper menus. They are inexpensive and easy to prepare. With this dish serve scalloped potatoes, a salad of crisp greens and piping hot rolls. For 16 patties use one pound each of ham and pork, ground, two-thirds cup cracker crumbs, two eggs, beaten, one and one-fourth cups evaporated milk, one-fourth teaspoon salt, pepper, dash of thyme, one small chopped onion. Mix ingredients together thoroughly. Pack lightly in large greased muffin pans, filling only about two-thirds full. Bake in 350° F. oven for 20 minutes. Then pour tablespoon of glazing syrup over each patty. Return to oven and bake 20 minutes longer. For the glaze use one cup brown sugar, teaspoon dry mustard and three tablespoons vinegar. Stir ingredients until sugar is partially dissolved, then boil syrup for one mintue before pouring over patties.

Vegetable Sauce.

Want to perk up Spring vegetables? Mock Hollandaise Sauce will do the job. We like its rich golden color when contrasted with the green of broccoli, cauliflower, young leeks or asparagus. For six servings, use one tablespoon butter, two tablespoons flour, two-thirds cup evaporated milk, one-half teaspoon each salt and pepper, few grains of cayenne, two egg yolks, beaten, one-fourth cup butter and one tablespoon lemon juice.

Melt the tablespoon butter, blend in flour, then add milk, salt, pepper and cayenne. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and drop in egg yolks. Add the one-fourth cup butter, bit by bit, blending well, then the lemon juice.

For a tasty breakfast, luncheon or supper dish, try lamb kidneys on toast. Take out the center tube of the lamb kidneys, but do not remove the little piece of fat. Skin and split. Drop the kidneys into boiling water to sear the outside and keep gravy in the kidney. Fry a few slices of bacon. Place the kidneys in the bacon fat and fry them gently on both sides over a fairly slow fire, turning them constantly. Serve, with a sprinkling of chopped parsley, on piping hot toast slices. An excellent gravy can be made by pouring a little water into the frying pan after removing the finished kidneys, and stirring with a fork.

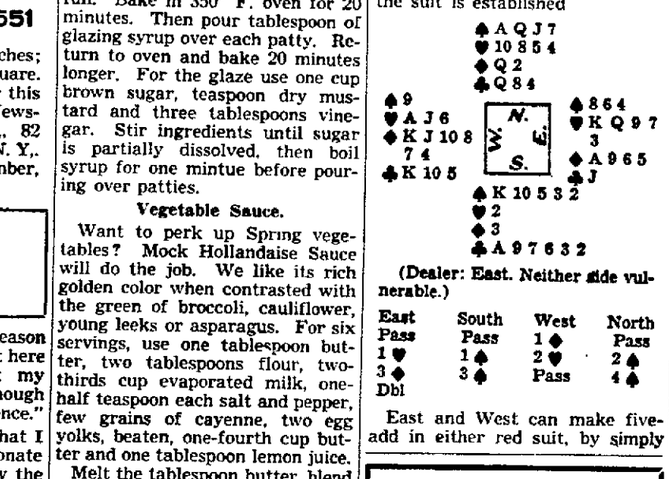
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

REVERSE THE USUAL

There are many situations in bridge which call for a reversal of customary practice. One of these is in the play of a suit which contains the ace in one hand opposite the queen and at least a couple of guards. Generally it is best to lay down the ace first, then play a small card toward the queen, hoping the king lies where it must be played first. This procedure has the special advantage that it drops the king in cases where it is singleton. It is sometimes better, however, to lead toward the queen on the first trick —when the queen has only one small guard with it or when the ace is needed as a re-entry when the suit is established



(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
1 ♥	1 ♠	2 ♥	2 ♠
3 ♦	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Dbl

East and West can make five—add in either red suit, by simply running that many direct tricks, but didn't realize it. They got something for their pains, however, as South fumbled the play of his contract, which can be made. The heart A won, then the heart 6 to the 9 was ruffed by the spade 2. Three tricks then went to the spade A, Q and K, and the crisis was at hand.

If South had now led a small club toward the Q, he would have made his contract. In case West won it, South could have ruffed any return and then run the clubs. If West ducked the Q would have won, and a club could then have been deliberately lost to West.

But South first led the club A, then a small one. West won and returned a heart, making South use his last trump. A small club was then won by the Q, but dummy had no more to reach South's hand, so the opponents got all but one of the remaining tricks, the one taken by dummy's last trump.

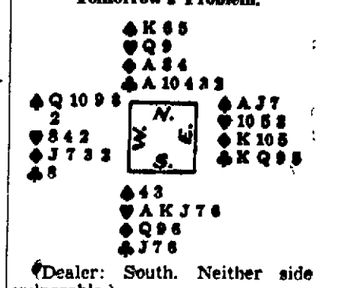
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

If North bids 1-Club on this deal, East 1-No Trump and South 2-Hearts, then West leads the club 8, why should East read it as a singleton?

MEDAL TO CREW

LONDON — (INS) — A special medal is to be struck to celebrate the victory of the British ships Exeter, Ajax and Achilles over the Graf Spee. It will probably show the sinking of the German war vessel on the face with the king's head on the reverse. The ribbon will probably embody the colors of Uruguay, in whose waters the Nazi vessel was sunk. The medal will be issued to all members of the crews of the vessels and the kin of those killed.

JUNE GRADS TO DINE, DANCE AT SCHOOL TONIGHT

Seniors to Be Entertained at Annual Frolic; Madison Holds Picnic Today.

The June graduating class of Senior high school will hold a dinner and dance at the school tonight

Dinner will be served in the cafeteria at 6:30 p. m., followed by dancing at 8.30 in the gymnasium with Ted Travers and his orchestra of Detroit, furnishing the music.

A welcome to the class and guests will be given by Steve Karnavas, class president. A toast to the faculty will be given by Eldon Sneeringer, Jeannette Werner will give the toast to the boys and Paul Sauder to the girls, and Henry Sanford will act as toastmaster.

Music during the dinner will be furnished by Ann Jeannette Klinger, pianist; Lois Robinson, violin; Jacques Edwards, saxophone, and Boyd Stull, vocal numbers. Marjorie Boals and Fred Lavender are chairmen of the party committee.

Other activities remaining on the senior schedule are class day, May 31, Baccalaureate June 2 and commencement June 6.

MADISON'S LAST EVENT

The 1939-40 school year at Madison high school closed today with the annual school picnic for students and their parents this noon at North Lake park.

A basket picnic dinner, followed by a program of athletic games and contests under the supervision of Al Fendrick and Mrs. Isabell Hoffman are on the schedule.

Tonight the annual Madison lawn fete will be held on the athletic field under sponsorship of the Madison Boosters' club. During the evening music will be furnished by the school band directed by James T. Weber, and the Accordionettes from Smart's studio of music. Dancing will be held in the gymnasium with Nels Blocker and his orchestra furnishing the music.

FINDLAY IRKED

Low-Flying Airplanes Become Pet Peeve of Ohio City.

FINDLAY — (AP) — Low flying airplanes over southwest Findlay have become the pet peeve of residents

"These low flying airplanes not only scare us to death but they have our livestock panicky," said one woman to Mayor Cloyce H. Duttweiler, adding that the planes sometimes fly "not over two cow lengths higher than a cow."

Another complained that one plane got tangled up in William Williamson's wire, fence, and he had to help extricate the "thing." (No one was injured.)

Airport attaches denied the charges, claiming that safe and proper altitudes are kept over the area. Mayor Duttweiler is discussing the matter with City Attorney James A. Bope.

WANTED BADGE

LONDON — (AP) — Among applications received by the admiralty from the men who want to join the navy are many from America and West Africa. One enthusiast wrote: "Please send me (1) a badge, (2) a gas mask (3) your catalogue (4) a lifebelt to swim with."

President Praises Dies' Probe of "Fifth Columners"

NATION OPENS DRIVE AGAINST ALIEN ENEMIES

Attorney General Reveals Plan For Registration of All Foreigners in Country.

By JACK VINCENT
(INS Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt, a frequent critic of Dies committee methods, today gave the inquiry an inferential pat on the back when he disclosed that he considered its published hearings a good source of information on "fifth column" activities.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked at his press conference about a statement by the attorney general that the president had received advance information about this type of espionage. The president was requested to reveal his sources of information.

One source of information—some good and some not so good—would be a careful reading of the hearings of the Dies committee which has been investigating un-American activities, Mr. Roosevelt suggested.

That was all the president had to say on fifth columns, but he spoke as the greatest drive against espionage and sabotage since "Black Tom" days of the World war was being organized on a nationwide basis today by government authorities shocked into action by Germany's use of fifth-column tactics.

Developments were:

1. Attorney General Robert Jackson announced that a nationwide system of registration of aliens would be set up when the immigration bureau is transferred from the labor to the justice department.

2. Jackson praised the work of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in combatting fifth column activities and said the FBI would be enlarged if necessary.

3. Sen. Byrd (D) Va., demanded that laws be enacted to force all aliens to be fingerprinted and carry identification cards subject to inspection at all times.

4. The Dies committee investigating un-American activities asked congress for an additional $100,000 to expose Trojan horse and fifth column activities.

5. Rep. Snyder (D) Pa., introduced a bill appropriating $225,000 to increase the border patrol along the Mexican border.

6. Sen. Reynolds (D) N. C., declared that he would introduce a resolution calling for investigation by a special senate committee of fifth column attempts to sabotage the national defense program.

7. Rep. Mason (R) Ill., a member of the Dies committee, called on the government to "clean its house of fifth column agents now enjoying the protection of people in high places."

It appeared that some sort of nationwide system of registration and fingerprinting of aliens may quickly be set up. Jackson revealed that J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, already is keeping a card index of Communists, Bund members and Fascists suspected of fifth-column work.

The attorney general said that when the government reorganization order transferring the immigration bureau to the justice department is approved by congress he will place Solicitor General Francis Biddle at the bureau's helm. It will in no way supersede any other unit, such as the FBI, in the justice department.

Jackson explained that Biddle can ask the FBI to make investigations for the immigration unit, but that this would in no way interfere with FBI investigations of fifth columners.

2 CARS STOLEN, OTHERS LOOTED

Thieves Break Into Garages In Marion Avenue Section, Ransack Machines.

Two automobiles were stolen and six others were ransacked by thieves last night in the Marion avenue section of the city, police reports disclosed today.

At the E. R. Hartman home 121 Marion avenue, thieves entered a garage and ransacked three cars and then drove away one of the machines.

Officers said they were told several articles were taken from the glove compartments of the machines. The thefts were discovered at 7:30 a. m. today.

Dr. John S. Hattery, 141 Marion avenue, reported that two automobiles were ransacked in his garage. Medical instruments valued at $70 were stolen from his automobile, and a shot gun valued at $40 was stolen from his son's car.

Miss Ada Premier, 45½ Douglas street, reported to police at 1:30 a. m. today that her automobile had been taken from in front of the home. She said she had parked the car at 10:45 p. m.

William A. McCauslin, 154 Marion avenue, reported that the garage at the rear of his home was entered and his automobile broken into. He told police the thieves had apparently been frightened away because an electric sweeper taken from the car was left standing in the garage. Officers said a window in the machine was broken to gain entrance.

Officers Praise "Miracle" Sight For U. S. Bombers

CAMP BEAUREGARD, La.—(AP)—A "miracle" bomb sight, army officers believe, has given American bombers more deadly accuracy than any plane dumping destruction over European battlefields today.

Praise for the device—a closely guarded military secret—came from officers at the army maneuvers in western Louisiana where the airforce has concentrated 250 planes, including 116 bombers, in a huge demonstration to co-ordinate its work with ground troops.

One officer said the sight used in the heavy bombers which do their work from an elevation of perhaps 15,000 feet, is so precise that a "plane three miles up could almost drop its eggs in a barrel or knock your hat off."

Officers reported that a bomber flying at 14,000 feet and using the American instrument scored five direct hits out of six bombs dropped on the outline of a battleship in a field at recent maneuvers at Fort Benning, Ga.

CHARGED WITH TOLEDO SNATCH

Man Arrested In Detroit for Kidnaping Two Years Ago.

DETROIT — (INS) — Theodore Gell, 24, was arrested in Detroit today by federal agents in connection with the kidnaping of Lynn Leopold in Toledo two years ago.

Leopold, whom FBI men described as a policy house collector, was taken from Toledo to Jonesville, Mich., and robbed of $3,500.

Gell will be returned to Toledo to face Lindbergh law charges.

Accused of Theft — A 16-year-old youth was to be arraigned before Judge C. J. Anderson in juvenile court this afternoon on a charge of stealing gasoline from a truck at the Perfection Bed Spring company, rear 31 Orange street, last night. He was captured by employes of the firm and turned over to police.

56 BOY SCOUTS GIVEN MERIT BADGE AWARDS AT HONOR COURT

He pointed out that the CCC camp, will provide labor only for farms that have been signed for conservation work and youths will not be sent out to do ordinary farm work.

Covering an area over a 15-mile radius from the camp, the CCC enrollees will help farmers re-arrange their fields, build diversion ditches and terraces, plant trees, retire rough eroded land to wood land, and perform other soil saving practices approved by the U. S. department of agriculture which will supervise the entire program.

Farmers who are interested in receiving conservation help from the camp may contact the county agent or any of the three federal soil conservationists at the county agent's office in the courthouse until the camp opens. The federal men will move their headquarters to the camp just off route 39 southeast of the city after it opens next month.

Registration For Y. M. C. A. Summer Camp Under Way

Registrations opened yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. for the annual "Y" summer camp at Camp Nelson Dodd, near Brinkhaven.

The Mansfield period at camp opens July 2 and continues until July 16, according to Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary. Mansfield's quota at the camp has been set at 35 boys, Chapman said.

Six boys have already registered for the camp. They are Robert Miller, Dale Breckenridge, Robert McDonald, Richard Hosler, Robert Gandert and Donald McKenzie. After the quota has been reached no more registrations will be accepted, Chapman said.

Registrations have also opened for the annual Hi-Y training camp also to be held at Camp Nelson Dodd. The 10-day camp opens Aug. 7 and closes Aug. 17.

Library Staff Members Plan to Attend Parley

Five members of the Mansfield Public library staff will go to Cincinnati next week to attend the 62nd annual convention of the American Library association May 26 to June 1, inclusive. Louis Bromfield, Mansfield author, will be one of the principal speakers.

Staff members who will attend on various days are Miss Lois MacKellar, librarian; Edith Jones, cataloger; Myra Lorimer, children librarian; Ruth Culbertson, Senior high school librarian, and Mrs. Ruth Duckwald, reference and extension librarian.

The library's bookmobile, which gives library service to all of Richland county's small communities and rural districts, will be in the parade of library trucks which will be a feature of the convention. The Richland county bookmobile traveled 4,000 in the county last year and circulated 34,579 books. Paul A. T. Noon, Ohio State librarian, reports that there were 18 bookmobiles in 17 counties last year and that they circulated 1,512,325 books to communities that do not have libraries.

The conference will be attended by approximately 3,000 librarians and trustees from all parts of the United States.

AIR TRAINING OF 50,000 IN YEAR PLANNED

Roosevelt Reveals Program to Build Pilot Division of Nation's Defenses.

civil aviation officials for a drive to make the United States "air conscious" on an unprecedented scale.

Officials expressed belief that latent youthful enthusiasm must be stirred up materially and flight training made easier, cheaper and safer if the purposes of the administration preparedness program are met.

Moves in this direction already have been made by the army's decision to reduce requirements for air corps pilots, and by the "air plattsburg" scheme of Col. Frank Knox to train 10,000 civilian volunteers annually, aside from the 15,000 of college age being taught to fly by the civil aeronautics authority.

Congress may be asked soon to authorize an expansion of the CAA training program with the aim of turning out 100,000 qualified military and commercial fliers in the shortest possible time.

Chairman Bailey (D. N.C.) said that he expected the legislation to be submitted to the senate commerce committee within the next few days by administration leaders.

To attain the army's immediate new goal of 7,000 pilots annually, General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, said that approximately 75,000 applicants must be "processed." Experience has shown that only about one out of ten applicants weathers the stiff course.

By the estimate of Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, World war ace, the 50,000 plane air force envisioned by Mr. Roosevelt would demand 150,000 pilots and ground forces totaling 750,000 men.

From Capt. Corley P. McDarment, president of the Aero Club of Washington and national executive of the Air Reserve association, came the prediction that it would be "much harder to get the mechanics than the pilots."

Industry Pledges Defense Plan Aid.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt said today that governors of the 48 states would meet in Duluth, Minn., about June 2 and that he understood their intention was to support and pledge co-operation to the defense program.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — American business leaders, mobilizing their vast resources on the industrial front, pledged the national defense program unreserved co-operation today for a task in which they said "our very lives and liberties may be involved."

After a round of conferences on production problems, more than 50 members of Secretary Hopkins' business advisory council went to the White House late yesterday to give President Roosevelt assurances of "full aid."

They spent almost an hour with the president, discussing methods for accelerating production of defense essentials and also the necessity of guarding against a rise in living costs.

The delegation saw Mr. Roosevelt not long after the senate approved unanimously the $1,473,756,728 navy bill, thus completing the chamber's action on the main emergency defense program. The $1,823,254,624 army measure was passed Wednesday.

Both measures will be taken up in the house next week after acting today on a bill to remove the 6,000 top limit on army planes.

Elimination of industrial bottlenecks was a subject which figured recurrently in the government's continuing study of manufacturing resources, particularly with regard to aircraft engines.

Secretary Morgenthau, in charge of coordinating plane production, announced that plans were being worked out to standardize and spread the manufacture of warplanes and motors among many plants.

Complimenting the industry for 100 per cent cooperation, Morgenthau said:

"We need a vast expansion of production, and the only way we can get it is to concentrate our available productive capacity on the best types."

Secretary of Commerce Hopkins asserted later that the pooling of patents and the standardization of production contemplated in aircraft manufacture might well be extended to many other industries.

He indicated, however, that substituting this policy for free competition would apply only in those industries vital to defense needs.

The navy disclosed meanwhile that it was working on a new fleet unit—an "aircraft destroyer" to combat plane attacks.

Testimony before a senate appropriations committee set forth the navy's purpose to convert a number of destroyers into vessels specially designed for anti-aircraft work.

Bricker Again Attacks Coalition.

INDIANAPOLIS —(AP)— Republicans "don't want" a coalition national administration, Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio declared today in the keynote address prepared for delivery at the Indiana Republican convention.

His speech was scheduled to open a convention to nominate candidates for U. S. senator, governor and nine other state offices.

Congressional district caucuses last night chose 24 of the state's delegates to the G. O. P. national convention at Philadelphia June 24 and four delegates-at-large were to be chosen by the full assembly.

Indications were that the Indiana delegation would not be instructed officially for any presidential candidate despite the endeavors of representatives of Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Robert A. Taft of Ohio; Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney, and Wendell L. Wilkie, Indiana-born utilities head, to obtain pledges.

Bricker, commenting on rumors that President Roosevelt might ask Republicans to join New Dealers in a coalition government because of the European war crisis, asserted:

"The people of our country . . . want a system of two parties maintained, with local government taking charge of those problems which are local in character. They see a danger in strong central government. . . .

"We hear talk of coalition government. We don't want it. We want the two parties maintained.

Republicans Protest as Coalition Rumors Continue

RENEW DEMAND ON THIRD TERM RENUNCIATION

Three Cabinet Posts Reported Ready for Occupation By G. O. P. Leaders.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—President Roosevelt today flatly denied that he plans to set up a "coalition" cabinet, as he prepared to deliver fireside chat Sunday urging national unity.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON— While President Roosevelt began work on a "National Unity" speech for delivery in a fireside chat Sunday, Republican leaders today renewed demands that he renounce all third term ambitions before soliciting coalition support of his national defense program.

Despite an indirect White House denial, persistent reports prevailed that Mr. Roosevelt contemplates appointment of three Republicans in his cabinet as secretaries of war, navy and labor. Both New Dealers and Republicans say they have been informed by "persons close to the White House" that the president plans such a shakeup.

One rumor credits the war post to William "Wild Bill" Donovan of New York, World war hero and Former Assistant Attorney General under Presidents Coolidge and Hoover; the navy post to Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, overseas artillery veteran and the GOP vice presidential nominee in 1936, and the labor post to Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia of New York City, a World war aviator.

Another rumor makes LaGuardia first choice for secretary of war. A third has Rep James W. Wadsworth of New York, Spanish-American war veteran and legislative expert on military affairs, as favored for the war command, but Wadsworth threw that idea overboard last night.

Former Gov. Alf M. Landon, 1936 GOP standard-bearer, was given universal support by Republican leaders in his demand that Mr. Roosevelt take himself out of the 1940 campaign before looking for coalition support of his program. Landon added that "if he does eliminate himself as a candidate, Republicans can and will participate" in the administration.

Wadsworth warmly endorsed Landon's position. Wadsworth said:

"I agree with Governor Landon's statement. It is sound from every standpoint."

Rep. Knutson (R) Minn., went further. He charged the president with planning a coalition cabinet in order to make "the Republican party the goat" for failures.

The president, in his fireside chat, is expected to plead for unity in international affairs. He is certain to urge elimination of all politics from administration of the national defense. But he is just as certain to remain silent about his third term plans.

Richland County Gets $59,112 In Auto Tag Revenue

Richland county and its cities and villages got a total of $59,112 in auto license money from the state today for building and maintaining roads and streets this summer.

With both Mansfield and the county hard-pressed for funds for repairing extensive winter damage to streets and roads, the money will be put to immediate use, officials said.

The allocation, second of the year, brings the total received in the county so far this year to approximately $150,000, representing about 85 per cent of the auto license revenue that will be returned to the county and its municipalities in 1940.

County Engineer Howard C. Sword said indications are that the county will get about $28,000 less this year than in 1939.

The allocation t day included $44,000 for the county and approximately $15,000 for the two cities and six villages in the county. Mansfield received $11,500 and Shelby, $1,800.

Allotments to villages included: Bellville, $337.50; Butler, $162.50; Lexington, $187.50; Lucas, $143.75; Plymouth, $225, and Shiloh, $143.75.

Up and Down THE STREET

Today's steady rain brought about some last minute changes in the annual Madison high and Hedges school lawn fetes, both scheduled for tonight. According to officials of Madison high that school's annual event has been postponed until next Tuesday night and will be held on the athletic field, while the Hedges fete will be held as planned, but in the school building. This marks the first time in the seven-year history of the Madison festival that it has been necessary to postpone it due to inclement weather.

Somewhere in Mansfield two 12-year-old boys have been able to elude officers since Sunday when they left home without telling their parents where they were going. The sheriff's office has had several calls from persons who said they saw the runaway boys, but when officers arrived at the given place the youths were gone. One of the youths, George Karkalik, 774 Bowman street, has been missing since Sunday noon and the other, Joe Griffith, 778 West Fourth street, since Sunday night. They were reported seen together Wednesday night.

Paul Cameron, athletic director of Johnny Appleseed Junior high school, was all set to give a rousing pep talk to the 200 attending the first annual Girls' Athletic association banquet held in the school cafeteria last night, but the introduction from Mistress of Ceremonies Camilla Calene, apparently floored him. She told of the "small but mighty" coach and praised his work at the school. Then she introduced him as "Mr. CECIL Paul Cameron." He blushed, stood up, said a dozen words and sat down, much to the delight of the students and teachers.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton and Council Clerk William J. Beer jr., played the role of Good Samaratians the other day when they contributed $2 to pay the dry cleaning bill for an irate citizen who claimed to have stepped out of his car into an open ditch on West Fourth street several weeks ago. To eliminate the prolonged red tape involved in presenting the claim to council for the damage, Crafton and Beer "dug down" and sent the man happily on his way.

MEET IN CITY

17th District Postmasters Hold Dinner Meeting.

Postmasters from the 17th congressional district will meet in Mansfield at 12:30 p. m. Sunday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel for a dinner meeting.

About 60 postmasters, their wives and guests are expected to attend. Among the guests will be M. F. O'Donnell, postmaster of Cleveland and president of the Ohio Postmasters' association, and Algy Murphy of Troy, secretary of the state organization.

A discussion on phases of the postal department and election of officers will be held. During the dinner hour, music will be furnished by the Accordionettes and the Three Majors from Smart's studio of music.

Arrangements for the meeting are in charge of Postmaster Herman E. Homberger. Fred Lawler of Mt. Vernon, is president of the district association and Mrs. Jessie McFadden of Pataskola is secretary.

FIRE DESTROYS MORROW HOME

Blaze Believed to Have Been Started by Kitchen Stove.

MT. GILEAD—Fire believed to have started from a kitchen stove destroyed the home of Fred Liles on the Charles Graven farm, five miles south of here at 8 a. m. today.

Liles and his family were visiting relatives on another farm several miles away at the time the house caught fire.

Clarence Benson of Fulton, a truck driver, discovered the fire as he was passing the farm on the highway. Cardington firemen were called but were unable to extinguish the blaze.

'Graduation Not End But the Beginning of Life,' Senior Class Members Told.

"Graduation is not the end but only the beginning of life," Rev. Donald H. Tippett, pastor of the Bexley Methodist church, Columbus, told 39 Madison high school seniors at the school's 15th annual commencement exercises in the school auditorium last night.

"You will have to go out in life and fight your way for what you want." "Graduation is giving you the right start in life," he added.

One award was made during the evening by Wayne E. Miller, principal. He presented Marcia Plumb, first honor student, with a gold pin, given annually by the faculty for high scholastic achievement. Olan LaRue, superintendent presented the diplomas.

The valedictory address was given by Marcia Plumb, and Gladys Perry, second ranking honor student, gave the salutatory. Music included a clarinet solo by Joe Subich, a member of the class, numbers by the A Cappella choir and selections by the high school orchestra, directed by James T. Weber. Rev. R. L. Showalter, pastor of the Lincoln Heights Church of the Brethren, gave the invocation and benediction.

VETERAN GIVERS AMONG FIRST TO DONATE FOR WAR RELIEF

Two Mansfield men, both in modest circumstances, have unusual records of contributing to Red Cross appeals for aid and were no exception in the present drive for $6,000 war relief funds to their record of always being the first to give.

There has never been any attempt on the part of either to be first contributors when the appeals for funds were made. It just happened that way.

Edward Glass, 120 Rowland avenue, who is not regularly employed, has contributed to every annual Roll Call and to every special appeal for aid during the past 20 years, according to records at the Red Cross office.

W. P. Millikin, former chauffeur for one of Mansfield's old families for a number of years and now unemployed because of the death of his employer, has contributed to Red Cross appeals 20 different times in the past four years.

Besides his membership in the annual Roll Call each year, he has contributed to the Red Cross for its work in the flood of 1936, the southern tornado that same year, four different contributions to the victims of the Ohio river valley floods early in 1937; five contributions in 1937 which included the Chinese war relief and the New England tornado.

He made six special contributions in 1939 for victims of earthquakes, tornados, floods and war, and in the past two weeks has made two contributions to the European war relief fund.

Millikin's contribution was the first one in after the appeal for funds was made this time and Glass, by coincidence, was second. Both men give in amounts ranging from $1 to $5.

The drive to raise $6,000 in Mansfield and the county is under way this week, and General Chairman D. O. Meese announced this morning that $2,010 had been contributed.

REPORTS SHOW CONTRIBUTIONS TO CAMPAIGNS

$7,000 Loan to Cleveland's Mayor Included in List of Receipts.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — Expense accounts on file with the secretary of state disclosed today that statewide committees for Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, Republican, and former Gov. Martin L. Davey, Democrat, each spent in excess of $35,000 for their successful primary election campaigns.

The organization which backed Burton for the U. S. Senatorial nomination reported receipts of $36,359 and expenditures of $35,159. The Davey-for-governor committee spent $36,988.

The Burton committee listed contributions of $29,327 and a loan of $7,032.

The report said that $6,000 of the expenditures went to county campaign committees.

The Davey committee listed receipts as $39,988.08, which the report said included a $10,000 loan from R. H. Smith, of Kent. Mrs. Davey, who contributed $4,000, gave the largest individual amount. Davey was listed as having put in $2,000.

Greatest expenditures for the Davey campaign, according to the report, were $13,950.40 for newspaper advertising and $1,328.87 for mailing costs.

At Kent the former governor talked with 10 other Democratic candidates for state and national offices on a campaign plan. Headquarters will be established in Columbus and it was generally expected that J Freer Bittinger, Ashland, would be made chairman of the Democratic state organization next week.

MERCHANT DIES

Former Millersburg Resident Claimed by Death.

MILLERSBURG—Jacob M. Miller, 76, former Millersburg business man, died at the home of his son, Walter, at Columbus Wednesday morning. He was a member of the Martins Creek Mennonite church.

Born in Berlin, he later operated a general store there. He came to Millersburg about twenty-five years ago where he was engaged first in the grocery business, later in auto sales and then operated the Central Meat market here. Since his retirement five years ago he has made his home with his son, Walter of Columbus and a nephew, Arthur Miller of Wooster.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday from the Elliott funeral home here with Rev. E. F. Kendle of the Millersburg Church of Christ officiating. Burial will be made in the Millersburg cemetery.

HOLMES COUNTY SURVEY PLANNED

Seccombe Says Defense Study Includes District.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Rep. James Seccombe (R., O.) said yesterday after a conference at the war department that Assistant Secretary Louis Johnson had agreed to make a survey of Stark, Wayne, Tuscarawas and Holmes counties, Ohio, to determine their industrial possibilities in connection with national defense.

Seccombe said the district would be surveyed with a view to determining what private contracts might be awarded to companies in the area for manufacture of defense items, and also what vacant plants might be used for locating new factories.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Tales From Times Square.

Even the more frivolous characters of the town have been sobered into thinking beyond the next rhumba by the black headlines across the front pages of the papers on the Broadway news stands. Just before Lois Andrew left Manhattan to visit her mother on the Coast, she was sitting with Georgie Jessel in Reuben's when George remarked that if the United States entered the war, he'd be among the first to enlist.

"If you do," threatened Lois, "I'll divorce you. Do I want to be married to a dead husband?"

One of the most sorrowful situations in show business has been Eddy Duchin's long enforced separation from his baby son, Peter. While Duchin waved his baton over his head at the Plaza for the past three winters, Peter was 3,000 miles away, recovering from a lung ailment in California. Frequently, between engagements, Eddy would rush by plane across the continent for a few hurried moments with the little boy. But never once in all that time could he really stay and visit and get to know his son. Peter's activities were catalogued by his nurse in letters and recorded on motion picture film and in ordinary snapshots which Eddy flashed on the midnighters at ringside tables. But he would have given anything to be able to play his music in the same town with the boy. It was a pitiful case.

But it had a silver lining. Two weeks ago Peter arrived in New York completely cured and ready to spend the summer with Daddy. No one in the world was happier than Eddy Duchin.

Tuesday the maestro received a telephone call from his manager.

"I've got great news for you," gloated the voice at the other end of the wire. "You've just been signed to play at the Cocoanut Grove—in Los Angeles!"

Milton Berle was in Leon and Eddie's the other evening telling pigeon stories. One of his pigeon heroes was sent out with an important message, and it flew like the wind toward its destination, swooping breathlessly to a perfect landing. The recipient picked up the bird and hunted around for the message, but there was none to be found.

'The pigeon clutched its beak in dismay. "Gosh," it moaned, "I musta left it in my other suit!"

At the Beachcomber, between Zombies, Monte Proser and Oscar Levant were roasting a famous Hollywood ham.

"What I object to about the guy," said Prosser, 'is that he's gross."

"Yeah," knifed Levant, "but not at the box office."

Some of the slap-bass and saxophone lads from Swing street were in La Conga the other morning chatting about Benny Goodman, and one of them related the tale of the time Benny and Leopold Stokowski were discussing plans for their recent joint concert at the Hollywood Bowl, and the symphony conductor indicated his intention of opening the program with Bach's "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor."

Benny, delighted, said politely: "Your arrangement of the 'Toccata' is one of my favorites. Mr. Toscanini. . . ."

Stokowski smilingly watched the swing king redden at the slip. "I'm so glad," he said, "that you like it, Mr. Dorsey!"

Gertrude Niesen, who hates catty females, was invited to a cocktail party at "21" a few days ago, and because she had only a short time between shows at Loew's State she rushed over with her complete stage makeup on.

A sub-deb famous for her verbal clawing took one look at Gertrude, whose eyelashes were obviously false, and cooed: "What perfectly divine eyelashes—Gertrude, how do you ever get them so long?"

"I brush them every night," said Gertrude, "with a special small brush."

"But they're so silky and curly," shrilled the sarcastic belle, "what do you do to make them that way?"

"I give them hot oil treatments," replied Niesen giving the maiden a hot oil glance.

But the sub-deb wouldn't stop raving, and soon everyone in the room was glaring at Gertrude with her store bought lashes.

"Look," said the singer finally, "you're a nice girl and I'd like to give you something. If you're so crazy about my eyelashes—for heaven's sake, take them!"

And she ripped them off and handed them to the girl, who hasn't had a word to say since.

At the Stork club the other night a young man strolled in with six beautiful girls, obviously models or chorines. "Who's he?" asked someone.

"Oh, that," flipped Eddie Garr," —that's Tommy Manville's understudy."

Swing lingo has gone a long way when it has permeated the sacred circle of the Metropolitan opera artists. But it must have. For a few evenings ago Kirsten Flagstad dropped in at the Plaza and heard Jane Pickens do her terrific takeoff on a Wagnerian soprano singing a popular song, and afterwards the two singers got together.

"If I sang like that," Flagstad giggled, "I would be a 'pep cat,' no?"

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—I always knew if I hung on long enough I'd get a Big Idea for the movies. And here it is—the idea that will save so much money and time the studios will be able to sell the dishes and give away the pictures.

I'm sitting with a bunch of the boys in a Warner Brothers laboratory. We're waiting to hear Bette Davis and Charles Boyer do a love scene over a stretch of some 6,000 miles via telephone. Major Nathan Levinson, the sound expert, and Anatole Litvak, the director, are there to see that it comes off. Miss Davis is sunning herself in Hawaii, where it's 10 a. m., and Mr. Boyer is not sunning himself in New York, where it's 4 p. m. (E.D.S.T.) and probably snowing. Miss D and Mr. B made a picture called "All This and Heaven Too" and then skipped town, after which the studio discovered with alarm that a section of sound track had been marred in the laboratory, necessitating rerecording.

Well, none of us really believe it, accustomed as we are to these horrible hazards of picture-making and their ingenious solutions in the publicity department. We don't really believe, for instance, that the sound track ever was scratched and we don't really believe that any words Miss D or Mr. B can transmit via trans-oceanic telephone will be worth recording. Not Miss D's, at any rate. Mr. B's might get by because Mr. B frequently sounds as if he spoke over a long connection, even when he's on a sound stage.

As you probably heard, the thing didn't come off. They cabled the necessary lines to Bette, but they let poor Charlie dig up his own script in New York. And Charlie had a temporary revised final script, while Bette had a final-final-final revised one, and they couldn't hit it off.

Anyway, it was fun, and it's important now because that's how I got this Big Idea, which will practically do away with studios entirely. This will automatically cut down the overhead: the sound stages can be used to house Hollywood Red meetings, which will make everything convenient for Mr. Dies to trap them all at once; the studio employes can go on relief, as a few more on the rolls won't make any difference, will it, Mr. Dewey?

Well, the Big Idea is that we do ALL our pictures by telephone. Miss Davis won't ever have to come back from Honoluiu, and Mr. Boyer can stay in New York.

You can see what a change this would make in Hollywood's more abundant life.

Miss Davis, so long as she had a pay station handy, could go on winning awards. If she were romping with her Scottie, Tibby, or giving a baked bean supper, she merely would have to excuse herself briefly while she told the telephone she loved it.

There's one little detail I haven't worked out, and that's how to get the pictures to go with the voices. But I've done my part, and somebody else can worry about that.

LIFE IN FINLAND DESCRIBED IN BOOK 'MARIANA'

'Europe To Let,' Also on New Book List, Tells Story of Wandering Journalist.

The author of "Katrina," Sally Salminen, has written another book on life in Finland, which is new on Mansfield Public Library shelves this week.

An English journalist is the central figure in a group of four stories by Storm Jamison, while another recent book of fiction at the library is a fantasy by Hans Fallads.

Stewart H. Holbrook has brought out the dramatic values in the life of Ethan Allen in his biography about this Vermont patriot. Waldemar Kaempffert reveals the effect that new inventions will probably have on individual and community life in his latest non-fiction book.

New Fiction Books.

MARIANA, by Sally Salminen is a worthy successor to "Katrina" by the same author. Mariana Nilsson lived in Ramsbole in the Aland islands. The book describes her girlhood and married life. As the wife of a young farmer, Sten Soderberg, Mariana suffered many disillusions, but finally accepted the realities of existence in a farm household. Her devotion to her home is the symbol of Finland and its courage.

EUROPE TO LET, by Storm Jameson is a group of four stories having for their central character an English journalist who wanders through Europe during recent years describing the things and people he sees. The scenes are the Rhineland in 1923 during the French occupation, Vienna and Prague at their downfall, and Budapest.

SPARROW FARM by Hans Fallada is a fantasy in which a city clerk is changed into a sparrow. The bird spends the winter with his newly discovered relatives in the country. The clerk's enemies transform themselves into larger and bloodier birds, but his goodness wins.

Other Fiction.

BLUE HEAVEN, by Carfrae.
QUEEN'S HOLIDAY, Corbett.
DARK HORSE, James.

New Non-Fiction.

ETHAN ALLEN, by Stewart H. Holbrook is a stirring biography which brings out the dramatic values in the life of this Vermont patriot's life. Showing Allen to be a vigorous leader full of faults but resourceful in every crisis. Holbrook catches the spirit of the times, of the region and of the man. He points out a number of occasions when Allen struggled to save Vermont and the other colonies and merely passes over the capture of Fort Ticonderoga, by the Green Mountain boys.

THE CENSOR MARCHES ON, by Morris Leopold Ernst and Alexander Lindey records recent milestones in the administration of the obscenity law in the United States. These men have argued many of the most important cases in this field in recent years.

SCIENCE TODAY AND TOMORROW, by Waldemar Kaempffert is a development of the prophecies uttered by men of science. He indicates what effects new discoveries and inventions are likely to have on individual and community life.

Other books on this list:

HOME MISSIONS ON THE AMERICAN FRONTIER, by Goodykoontz.

LADY LORE, Witan.

CAN BUY DRINK

VANCOUVER, B. C. —(INS)— The right of a negro to buy a drink in British Columbia beer parlors was vindicated when the provincial supreme court awarded $25 damages to Edward T. Rogers, negro shoemaker, because a tavern refused to sell him a glass of beer.

REGISTRATION STARTS AGAIN

Voters Can Begin To Qualify For Voting Tomorrow.

The registration period for the November election will open Saturday morning, board of elections officials said today.

Mansfield residents of voting age must register before Oct. 10 to vote at the fall general election. Registrations and transfers will be received at the board of elections office in the courthouse basement.

The office has been closed to registrations for several days because of the primary last week.

Stores Demonstrate New Electric Ranges

Mansfield Stores To Give Residents Chance To See Latest In Kitchen Equipment During Saturday

Skilled home economists will offer demonstrations in electric cookery in several Mansfield stores Saturday.

Newest refinements in electric ranges will be shown and explained at the Sears Roebuck and company, Montgomery Ward and company, the Richland Electric company and the Ohio Public Service company.

The demonstrations bring to homemakers here a great opportunity to see the many gleaming new models of electric ranges that set an all-time high for beauty, efficiency and economy.

Although millions of users know the low cost of electric cooking, a recent national survey proves that guesses of those who don't know—average twice the actual average cost.

Electric cooking really is economical cooking. Present electric rates, highly perfected new heating elements in modern electric ranges, completely insulated ovens that conserve heat, exact methods of heat measurement at the snap of a switch, and automatic thermostats which keep current down to a minimum, contribute to this low cost of operation.

Added to these mechanical perfections, electric cleanliness, perfect cooking results, and less shrinkage of foods resulting through use of electricity assure even greater economy.

Besides economical cooking, these modern electric ranges offer fast cooking. Heating elements glow with surging heat at the snap of a switch. Ovens heat miraculously fast.

Then again, electric cooking is clean. There's no flame or odor from an electric heating element. Consequently, there's no soot to cause a greasy film on curtains and walls. This means cleaner kitchens and much less washing and cleaning work.

Electric ranges actually put more hours in the day, because they set housewives free from cooking supervision—give hours of free time in which to perform other tasks about the house—or to leave the house for shopping or bridge without even a thought or worry.

Thrift Features Built In New Electric Range

The range, Tel-a-Cook, lights in color a sensational new extra convenience. You can tell at a glance what units of your range are on and at what heat. Above each switch is a light panel, clearly marked to show which unit is in operation.

Select-a-Heat Calrod five speeds —gives a heat for every cooking need. Calrod is a hermetically sealed unit—sealed against air, dirt and moisture. The surface of the calrod requires no wiping off. This unit has no hidden crevices to catch or hold dirt or spillage. Trays underneath slide out easily and can be washed like a dish.

The Nu-Flex Tripl-Oven embraces three ovens in one for speed and economy. There is a speed oven for single shelf cookery—half the size of the big oven—a master oven with greater depth for big roasts, large bakings or holiday meals, and a super-broiler of extra large capacity and maximum flexibility for placement of foods.

Electric Cookery Halts Bending Over Hot Stove

Perfection of the new electric ranges has done away with the endless bending over a broiling hot stove that was forced upon women of another day as they prepared meals for the family, according to M. C. Pecht, of the Martin Hardware company, dealers in Westinghouse Electric ranges.

Electric cookery, because it uses no fuel, also has lessened the housewive's problem of keeping her home clean the year around, he continued. Electric cookery because it eliminates variable temperatures, has simplified woman's cooking problems, Pecht added.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

The Grape Peninsula has recently become a favorite vacation land. Stories for children about that rocky seacoast have appeared only recently too. Both of the new books in the children's room are just right for boys and girls in the fourth or fifth grades.

SEA-BIRD ISLAND, by Vera Andrus—Paul Martin and his father visited the Dufour family on an island in the Gaspe region. Paul and Nick Dufour went sailing, took hikes, and did all the other things young boys do when they are becoming friends. No trip was as exciting as the one on which Paul fell off a ledge down the steep side of a cliff overhanging the sea, and Nick had to rescue him alone.

TREASURE IN GASPESY, by Amy Hogeboom—Philippe and Babette live in Gaspe too with their father and mother, their friends and their pets. Every chapter in this story describes a different adventure or tells one of the fairy stories the children loved to hear.

26 MORE LIST EXPENSES FOR PRIMARY DRIVES

Lutz, Successful in Congress Race, Reports $297; Seven Spend More Than $100.

Twenty-six more candidates for the nominations for county and district offices in the May 14 primary had filed campaign expenses reports today with the county board of elections, listing expenditures ranging from zero up to $297.

Topping the list was Ralph C. Lutz of Lexington who spent $297 in his successful campaign for the Democratic nomination for congress in the 17th district.

His opponent, Samuel A. Anderson of Newark, listed expenditures totaling $205. J. Harry McGregor, unopposed on the Republican ticket, reported spending $50, his filing fee.

Five other candidates reported expenditures amounting to more than $100. They were Atty. John L. Catlett, Mansfield, who won the Republican nomination for state representative, $168; Fred R. Zellner, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for clerk of courts, $134; Berlyn McCready, Republican, for sheriff, $137.95; Glenn W. Marriott, Democrat, probate judge, $116, and Atty. Leslie Wagner, winner of the Democratic nomination for state representative, $115.

Other primary candidates who filed their reports were James Brownscombe, clerk of courts, $42; Charles Payne, Democrat, treasurer, $57.98; Cyrus L. Shoup, Republican, commissioner, $58; Earl A. McFarland, state central committeeman, $51; Frank Deringer, Republican, sheriff, $72; Harold Lutz, Democrat, prosecuting attorney, $57.50; Kenneth Shaffer, Republican, county engineer, $90; H. P. Cites Advantages Of Electric Ranges In Home Cooking

Because women wanted to get away from the time-wasting drudgery of old-fashioned cookstoves, thousands of American housewives have turned to electric cookery, according to Clayson D. Bell, owner of the Bell Music company and Mansfield distributor for Hot-Point electric ranges.

Women have reported, Bell says, that electric cooking is clean, fast and easy—and that it is surprisingly economical. These factors, coupled with recent reductions in prices have made electric cookery more desirable than ever, he adds.

Generous trade-in allowances for musical instruments or pianos are now being offered on new Hot-Point electric ranges.

Bell is showing a complete line of Hot-Point Electric ranges in his store at 26 South Park street.

WESTINGHOUSE RESEARCH FOR ARMY RESULTS IN DEVELOPMENT

The 1940 Westinghouse range line writes a new chapter in a story which might be entitled, "Power Dams to Potatoes."

Twelve years ago United States Army Engineers asked engineers of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company to build heaters preventing the freezing of water locks on power dams. Thus started the Westinghouse history and experience with tubular or skeleton type heaters.

The company since then has built thousands of tubular heaters to prevent freezing of railroad switches. It builds heaters for the exacting aviation industry to keep engine oils at predetermined temperatures; to preserve the operation of delicate machinery in submarines and battleships. Many thousands of tubular heaters are giving continuous satisfactory service in Westinghouse water heaters.

Today Westinghouse has a new five-speed Corox unit, a tubular heater, which makes available to users of Westinghouse ranges the benefits of this long engineering experience in precision heating.

W. J. Russell, Manager of Engineering at the Westinghouse Merchandising Division plant at Mansfield, Ohio, explains that the new surface heating element is 30 per cent faster and uses 22 per cent less current than famous Corox units of other years.

Other major features of the 1940 Westinghouse are new and modern styling, and the "True-Temp" over—an oven with uniform heat throughout. Mr. Russell reported results of hundreds of tests which show that the True-Temp oven has balanced heat. One of these tests was the repeated baking of four cake layers with identical results—all cakes browned evenly.

Another feature of the 1940 Westinghouse range oven, single dial control, is designed to make manual operation of the oven as simple as possible. One turn of the dial operates both heaters and sets the temperature for pre-heating and baking or broiling.

Because of the increased cooking speed in the new Corox, one and a half pounds of potatoes—enough to serve a family of four—can be brought to a steaming point in less than five minutes—more than 30 per cent faster than ever before.

6 Heat Units In Ward's New Electric Ranges

A flip of the switch gives you the exact heat you need for any cooking from gentle warming to fast boiling in Ward's ranges.

Top switches are safely out of baby's reach; built for years of service; acid-resisting porcelain one-piece top; oven thickly insulated with heavy spun-glass; plenty of storage space saves your shoe-leather. All are embraced in the new ranges.

Copper Clad Cooks Better—Ideal for waterless cooking; it's healthier—food retains minerals and vitamins. Food tastes better—no food discoloration; it's easier—no watching, stirring or overboiling. It's economical—saves fuel by using less heat; prevents hot spots and burning of food; retains heat—keeps food warm, high heat distribution . . . heats evenly on bottom. Can be used for dining table service; modern design; straight sides for maximum cooking efficiency on stove top, flat bottoms fit all cooking ranges perfectly; safe, cool burn-proof Bakelite comfortable grip handle . . . no slipping, twisting or turning.

As a gift to purchasers of electric range Models 6101-6103, Ward's presents a five-piece set of copper clad stainless steel utensils.

Features Low-Price Frigidaire Unit

The Trumpowers' Kitchen Supply company, 600 Grace street, has announced their "Year's Big Value" in Frigidaire Electric ranges. It is the special Model B-10.

This cabinet model features top Frigidaire quality construction with "Speed-Heat Units" each with five cooking speeds, Double-Duty Thermizer, twin-unit oven and many other extra-value features found in Frigidaire ranges.

For a limited time, the Trumpower company is giving with each range purchased, a gift of one set of quality cooking utensils.

Electroday at Sears Offers Labor Savers

Sears resources have gone into making the new Electroday electric ranges a welcomed addition to the many time and labor savers offered to the American housewife.

Designed and laboratory tested, by Sears engineers, Electroday offers every conceivable convenience . . . every wanted feature plus economy in electric ranges . . .

The American public has accepted these fine new ranges with accord, and the reason for this is definitely constructional qualities . . . new modern styling and the low prices for which they are sold.

Another important factor in the success of the new Electroday can be traced to Sears standard of quality, and policy of seeing that every customer is entirely satisfied. This policy has been associated with Sears for over fifty-four years.

BEAUTY, CHARM, EFFICIENCY SHOWN IN PLANNED KITCHEN

Modern automatic electric equipment, designed to do specific tasks with precision and economy, revolutionizes the work of the housewife in the kitchen from that of struggle and drudgery to efficient and enjoyable routine, says Ross Warden, in charge of kitchen planning at Ohio Public Service company.

Beauty and charm, resulting from clever arrangement of the electrical equipment, cabinets, and work surfaces, with proper lighting and decorative coloring, are also attributes of the modern kitchen that make it enjoyable just being in it every day. All play an important part in keeping the homemaker young.

Efficiency in the kitchen comes from the scientific arrangement of the electrical equipment, cabinets and work surfaces in the sequence which permits the preparation of meals to be accomplished in the quickest time and with the least effort. It comes from placing each part of the kitchen in it proper relation to the rest, each working center—of which there are three, (1) the refrigerator and preparation center, (2) the sink, dishwasher center, and (3) the range-serving center—properly arranged so that the first operation is followed consecutively by the second and this by the third, effecting a great saving in effort and in time.

Efficiency of the properly arranged kitchen can be likened to the efficiency of an automobile factory asembly line where a car can be completely assembled from the raw material into the finished product without a wasted motion or effort.

By placing the refrigerator and food production center at the one corner of the kitchen, followed by the sink and dishwasher center with the dishes and utensil cabinets handily located above and below this center and finally the range and serving center last, an efficient production line is accomplished in the kitchen similar to that of a modern industrial plant.
